Facility AUDIT FINDINGS

Summary of Audit Findings

The OAS automatically populates the number and list of Standards exceeded, the number of Standards met, and the number and list of Standards not met.

Auditor Note: In general, no standards should be found to be "Not Applicable" or "NA." A compliance determination must be made for each standard. In rare instances where an auditor determines that a standard is not applicable, the auditor should select "Meets Standard" and include a comprehensive discussion as to why the standard is not applicable to the facility being audited.

Random Inmate/Resident/Detainee Interviews
53. Enter the total number of RANDOM INMATES/RESIDENTS/DETAINEES who were interviewed:	9

54. Select which characteristics you considered when you selected RANDOM INMATE/RESIDENT/DETAINEE interviewees: (select all that apply)	<input type="checkbox"/> Age <input type="checkbox"/> Race <input type="checkbox"/> Ethnicity (e.g., Hispanic, Non-Hispanic) <input type="checkbox"/> Length of time in the facility <input type="checkbox"/> Housing assignment <input type="checkbox"/> Gender <input type="checkbox"/> Other <input type="checkbox"/> None
55. How did you ensure your sample of RANDOM INMATE/RESIDENT/DETAINEE interviewees was geographically diverse?	Since there were fewer than five targeted individuals, the auditor increased the number of individuals picked for random interviews. The Auditor ensured that residents picked were from both units and included male and female residents. The Auditor spoke with individuals who were new to the facility and those who had been in the pre-trial detention facility for six months. The population for interviews was determined after identifying the target population and using a random number generator to generate those to speak with.
56. Were you able to conduct the minimum number of random inmate/resident/detainee interviews?	<input checked="" type="radio"/> Yes <input type="radio"/> No

Targeted Inmate/Resident/Detainee Interviews
58. Enter the total number of TARGETED INMATES/RESIDENTS/DETAINEES who were interviewed:	3
As stated in the PREA Auditor Handbook, the breakdown of targeted interviews is intended to guide auditors in interviewing the appropriate cross-section of inmates/residents/detainees who are the most vulnerable to sexual abuse and sexual harassment. When completing questions regarding targeted inmate/resident/detainee interviews below, remember that an interview with one inmate/resident/detainee may satisfy multiple targeted interview requirements. These questions are asking about the number of interviews conducted using the targeted inmate/resident/detainee protocols. For example, if an auditor interviews an inmate who has a physical disability, is being held in segregated housing due to risk of sexual victimization, and disclosed prior sexual victimization, that interview would be included in the totals for each of those questions. Therefore, in most cases, the sum of all the following responses to the targeted inmate/resident/detainee interview categories will exceed the total number of targeted inmates/residents/detainees who were interviewed. If a particular targeted population is not applicable in the audited facility, enter "0".
60. Enter the total number of interviews conducted with inmates/residents/detainees with a physical disability using the "Disabled and Limited English Proficient Inmates" protocol:	0

Select why you were unable to conduct at least the minimum required number of targeted inmates/residents/detainees in this category:	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Facility said there were "none here" during the onsite portion of the audit and/or the facility was unable to provide a list of these inmates/residents/detainees. <input type="checkbox"/> The inmates/residents/detainees in this targeted category declined to be interviewed.
b. Discuss your corroboration strategies to determine if this population exists in the audited facility (e.g., based on information obtained from the PAQ; documentation reviewed onsite; and discussions with staff and other inmates/residents/detainees).	The facility was asked in advance to identify potential individuals in the target population. The facility could only identify a limited number in the small pre-trial facility. The population was discussed during the entrance meeting, and the Auditor discussed with the medical, mental health, and educational staff how individuals in the under-identified groups would be provided education and support during their respective stays.

Specialized Staff, Volunteers, and Contractor Interviews

Staff in some facilities may be responsible for more than one of the specialized staff duties. Therefore, more than one interview protocol may apply to an interview with a single staff member and that information would satisfy multiple specialized staff interview requirements.

75. Enter the total number of staff in a SPECIALIZED STAFF role who were interviewed (excluding volunteers and contractors):	8
76. Were you able to interview the Agency Head?	<input checked="" type="radio"/> Yes <input type="radio"/> No

SITE REVIEW AND DOCUMENTATION SAMPLING

Site Review

PREA Standard 115.401 (h) states, "The auditor shall have access to, and shall observe, all areas of the audited facilities." In order to meet the requirements in this Standard, the site review portion of the onsite audit must include a thorough examination of the entire facility. The site review is not a casual tour of the facility. It is an active, inquiring process that includes talking with staff and inmates to determine whether, and the extent to which, the audited facility's practices demonstrate compliance with the Standards. Note: As you are conducting the site review, you must document your tests of critical functions, important information gathered through observations, and any issues identified with facility practices. The information you collect through the site review is a crucial part of the evidence you will analyze as part of your compliance determinations and will be needed to complete your audit report, including the Post-Audit Reporting Information.

84. Did you have access to all areas of the facility?	<input checked="" type="radio"/> Yes <input type="radio"/> No
Was the site review an active, inquiring process that included the following:
85. Observations of all facility practices in accordance with the site review component of the audit instrument (e.g., signage, supervision practices, cross-gender viewing and searches)?	<input checked="" type="radio"/> Yes <input type="radio"/> No
86. Tests of all critical functions in the facility in accordance with the site review component of the audit instrument (e.g., risk screening process, access to outside emotional support services, interpretation services)?	<input checked="" type="radio"/> Yes <input type="radio"/> No
87. Informal conversations with inmates/residents/detainees during the site review (encouraged, not required)?	<input checked="" type="radio"/> Yes <input type="radio"/> No
88. Informal conversations with staff during the site review (encouraged, not required)?	<input checked="" type="radio"/> Yes <input type="radio"/> No

89. Provide any additional comments regarding the site review (e.g., access to areas in the facility, observations, tests of critical functions, or informal conversations).	The Auditor had full access to the facility, its staff, and its residents. He could return to areas on request without delay. The Auditor could interview residents and staff in an area away from others' views or hearing. The Auditor could see the posted signage and ask residents about it to gauge their understanding of the materials and how the black box mail system works. Though there were no current individuals needing interpretive services or outside counseling for sexual abuse, the auditor confirmed the posted numbers and addresses were consistent with the information available on their respective websites. Staff were also asked about how residents can access services, including the local Rape Crisis Agency. In this facility, staff must dial the phone for the juvenile but may allow them privacy through the use of the phone in the dining room. The Auditor had informal conversations on tour and at down points during the two days with both staff and residents.

Documentation Sampling

Where there is a collection of records to review-such as staff, contractor, and volunteer training records; background check records; supervisory rounds logs; risk screening and intake processing records; inmate education records; medical files; and investigative files-auditors must self-select for review a representative sample of each type of record.

90. In addition to the proof documentation selected by the agency or facility and provided to you, did you also conduct an auditor-selected sampling of documentation?	<input type="radio"/> Yes <input checked="" type="radio"/> No

91. Provide any additional comments regarding selecting additional documentation (e.g., any documentation you oversampled, barriers to selecting additional documentation, etc.).

The Auditor completed a sample of records during the two-day audit. The Auditor was able to review staff records to ensure the required background check and that the required questions were completed before hiring. The Auditor was able to review resident records, which revealed that though all youth appeared to have been screened utilizing an objective tool, 33% occurred between 72 and 144 hours. The Auditor reviewed 12 current files and 7 other files closed in the previous 6 months. The results were discussed with the Director, PREA Coordinator, and the Regional Director to develop a plan to resolve the identified issue.

SEXUAL ABUSE AND SEXUAL HARASSMENT ALLEGATIONS AND INVESTIGATIONS IN THIS FACILITY

Sexual Abuse and Sexual Harassment Allegations and Investigations Overview

Remember the number of allegations should be based on a review of all sources of allegations (e.g., hotline, third-party, grievances) and should not be based solely on the number of investigations conducted. Note: For question brevity, we use the term “inmate” in the following questions. Auditors should provide information on inmate, resident, or detainee sexual abuse allegations and investigations, as applicable to the facility type being audited.

92. Total number of SEXUAL ABUSE allegations and investigations overview during the 12 months preceding the audit, by incident type:

	# of sexual abuse allegations	# of criminal investigations	# of administrative investigations	# of allegations that had both criminal and administrative investigations
Inmate-on-inmate sexual abuse	0	0	0	0

93. Total number of SEXUAL HARASSMENT allegations and investigations overview during the 12 months preceding the audit, by incident type:

	# of sexual harassment allegations	# of criminal investigations	# of administrative investigations	# of allegations that had both criminal and administrative investigations
Inmate-on-inmate sexual harassment	0	0	0	0

Sexual Abuse and Sexual Harassment Investigation Outcomes

Sexual Abuse Investigation Outcomes

Note: these counts should reflect where the investigation is currently (i.e., if a criminal investigation was referred for prosecution and resulted in a conviction, that investigation outcome should only appear in the count for “convicted.”) Do not double count. Additionally, for question brevity, we use the term “inmate” in the following questions. Auditors should provide information on inmate, resident, and detainee sexual abuse investigation files, as applicable to the facility type being audited.

94. Criminal SEXUAL ABUSE investigation outcomes during the 12 months preceding the audit:

	Ongoing	Referred for Prosecution	Indicted/ Court Case Filed	Convicted/ Adjudicated	Acquitted

95. Administrative SEXUAL ABUSE investigation outcomes during the 12 months preceding the audit:

	Ongoing	Unfounded	Unsubstantiated	Substantiated

Indicator (a). The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has in place agency-wide policies on efforts to ensure compliance with the Prison Rape Elimination Act (PREA). In 2022, the State separated the PREA Functions of the Adult Correctional Facilities and the Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, previously in the North Carolina Department of Public Safety. In doing so, it created a PREA Coordinator to oversee the Department of Juvenile Justice's efforts to maintain PREA compliance across the state's Juvenile Facilities. The Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has a 31-page Juvenile PREA policy that was written to address the various requirements of the standards. Page four of the policy sets forth the zero-tolerance condition, and this initial portion of the policy defines sexual misconduct consistent with the federal terms in PREA. "The North Carolina Department of Public Safety is committed to a standard of zero-tolerance of sexual abuse and sexual harassment of persons under its supervision. Therefore, it is the policy of Juvenile Justice to provide a safe, humane, and appropriately secure environment, free from the threat of sexual abuse and sexual harassment of juveniles, by maintaining a program of prevention, detection, response, investigation, and tracking." Over the subsequent pages, the policy states there is no consensual contact between residents and staff or between residents. It further identifies screening, education, and monitoring, along with other elements that support prevention, allow for detection, and ensure a full legal and medical response to any complaint. A review of the PREA-100 policy also sets forth expectations of a juvenile environment free of sexual misconduct. Similarly, it defines expectations on the efforts to prevent, detect, and respond to sexual misconduct allegations. In addition to policy language on consequences for staff who engage in sexual misconduct, the Auditor was also provided with state statutes 14-27. The review of this statute supports there is no consent between residents and staff and that such actions are a felony in North Carolina. The law is also cited on the agency's HR Acknowledgement forms about PREA that employees sign at the time of hire.

The facility staff showed knowledge consistent with training materials about their role in preventing, detecting, and responding to sexual assault claims. Staff members described the training about the importance of a zero-tolerance environment and their roles as first responders to sexual assault allegations. Random residents reported that this Juvenile facility supported a PREA-safe environment and a zero-tolerance culture.

Indicator (b). Wake Juvenile Detention Center is one of ten Juvenile facilities run by the North Carolina Department of Juvenile Justice. The division has created a PREA oversight team in the Analysis, Research, and External Affairs Office. The PREA Coordinator reports to the Manager of PREA and Juvenile Records. Interviews with both these individuals show they have full access to senior leadership and feel they can influence policy at a statewide level and assist in resolving compliance issues at a facility level. The Auditor was provided an agency flow chart showing the relationship between the PREA Coordinator, DJJ Leadership, and DJJ Juvenile Justice facility Directors. The Department of Juvenile Justice's PREA Policies repeatedly directs in policy language required interactions between facility staff and the PREA Office. Policy language further supports the influence of the PREA Office on operations when it directs that the PREA Office must approve training materials or that the PREA Office must get notification on all incidents of sexual abuse or harassment, as well as receive documentation of related data and reviews. The PREA Office has modified the resident training curriculum since taking over this role and created new signage that the Auditor found very informative.

The Auditor observed a collaborative effort between the facility leadership and the PREA Office staff. The importance of this relationship was also echoed by the Regional Director for Juvenile Justice, who came on-site during the Audit.

Indicator (c). The NCDJJ PREA Policy defines the PREA Compliance Manager's (PCM) role in the institution. The Policy states, "Each center will have at least one (1) trained PCM with sufficient time and authority to coordinate efforts to comply with PREA standards. The PCM and an alternate will be designated in writing by the Center Director on the OPA- A16 form." The Auditor was provided with a copy of the PCM designation form, which names the PREA Compliance Manager for the facility and a backup person if the first individual is away.

The Wake Director had named two Detention Supervisors as the Primary PREA Compliance Managers and the backup person for the facility. Interview with the facility director supports the PCM's having sufficient access and ability to influence policy and procedures toward ensuring PREA compliance. The Auditor spoke with the PCM in the course of the visit and observed regular contact between the Director, the PCM, and other facility leadership. These observations supported the PCM's ability to manage PREA Compliance and implement a plan if needed.

	Compliance Determination: The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has policies defining the steps to prevent, detect, and respond to sexual abuse and sexual harassment incidents. Agency policy defines the roles of the state PREA Coordinator and the facility PREA Compliance Manager. Interviews with the Agency PREA Coordinator and facility PREA Compliance Manager confirm their roles in maintaining PREA compliance. Residents in the facility knew they could call the PREA Hotline as an option or ask to speak with the PREA Compliance Manager or the facility Director. The PREA Coordinator and PREA Compliance Manager believe they have the capacity in their jobs to advocate for policy or procedural changes needed to support resident safety. All new NCDPS employees are educated on PREA and the agency’s zero-tolerance stance at hire, even if they do not work in an adult or juvenile institution. Compliance was determined considering multiple factors. The supporting documentation included agency and facility management charts showing PREA positions. Interviews with the representative of the agency head and the facility Director support compliance with all standard expectations. Agency policies described in depth the agency's expectation to protect, detect, and respond to sexual misconduct. The guidelines also clearly define the roles of the state PREA Coordinator, the PREA Office, and the PREA Compliance Manager in each facility to support this cause. The policy also addresses prohibited behaviors and sanctions for any form of sexual misconduct. In formal interviews, residents confirmed that sexual misconduct is addressed, and they had knowledge of resources available if a concern arises. The signage about PREA was plentiful and presented in a kid-friendly manner. The facility has been able to maintain a safe environment where residents report violent sexual assault is not a concern. The Auditor also recognized the supportive relationship between the facility and the PREA Office as a factor in providing ongoing compliance across the Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention’s system.

Indicator (a) The North Carolina Department of Public Safety currently does not utilize step-down facilities to house juveniles under court-ordered supervision. The Agency entered into an agreement with the North Carolina Department of Adult Corrections in November of 2022 to house up to 32 16- or 17-year-olds whose cases have been transferred from the juvenile court to the adult court for trial. The review of the Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) supports that the facility must comply with the Juvenile sight and sound separation regulations from adult prisoners. The document mandates Zero tolerance expectations toward sexual abuse and mandates that the facility must always be PREA Compliant. The MOA is for one-year periods, during which both parties can renew agreements. The document also reinforces prohibited acts by staff, volunteers, or contractors toward juveniles and sets forth that the staff working in the unit will receive juvenile-focused training. Policy language in PREA -100 sets forth an obligation to ensure any contractor maintains PREA compliance when it states, "shall include in any new contract or contract renewal the contractor's obligation to adopt and comply with PREA standards when contracting for the confinement of its offenders, residents, and safekeepers with private agencies or other entities, including other government agencies."

Indicator (b). The agency head's representative and the PREA Coordinator confirmed that they will monitor the MOA facility for ongoing compliance. They reported they had their initial site visit scheduled for early March after the facility opened at the end of last year. The Foothills Correctional Center had its PREA compliance audit in October of 2023. The NCDJDP PREA Audit Team made their initial site earlier in 2023. They report they tested critical functions and resident access to reporting methods consistent with the juvenile policies of the state of North Carolina, including that Juvenile calls are not recorded.

Concluding Determination;

In 2022, the Department of Adult Corrections was separated from the North Carolina Department of Public Safety, the parent organization of which the Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention is a member. The agencies have entered into a Memorandum of Agreement for housing a narrow group of juveniles of a certain age whose case is before the Adult Courts. The Contract Language and agency policy confirm an obligation for the juveniles in care to be treated in compliance with federal law and ensure PREA is a priority. The Auditor finds the standard to be in compliance as the NCDJJD has entered into an agreement with the NCDOC, including language on PREA Monitoring. The DJJ PREA Office staff have already put in place a way to ensure ongoing monitoring and communication, including the coordination of any data related to allegations of sexual misconduct. The Auditor's review of the 2023 PREA Audit found that there were no deficiencies in the management of the population and their ability to keep their sight and sound separated from the adult population on the same complex.

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has created a policy language that outlines the requirements for determining a staffing plan that considers PREA safety. The Agency policy requires, "Juvenile Facility Central Office shall submit annual staffing plans to the PREA Office. The report must include staffing reports and any deviations from the required ratios. Additionally, the Central Office shall assess, determine, and document whether adjustments are needed to 1. The staffing plan; 2. Prevailing staffing patterns; 3. The center's deployment of video monitoring systems and other monitoring technologies; and 4. The resources the center has available to commit to ensure adherence to the staffing plan."

The PREA Office has worked with the facility to document the elements of the standard. The Auditor reviewed the staffing plan that protects residents against sexual misconduct. The various 11 elements to be considered in developing a plan include generally accepted juvenile correctional practice, frequency of sexual assaults/complaints (of which there were none), population makeup of the units, and how video monitoring and staff can support safety. The Staffing documents the elements required in indicator (a). The plan provides the reader with the information used to determine the number of assigned staff required in indicator (a). The facility's capacity is 24 male and female residents in 2 housing units. Included in the staffing document was information on the frequency of PREA complaints, the risk level of the population, the client population's mental health profile, and the technology that has been put in place to aid supervision. The information included the assignment of custody staff and supervisory staff. The report accompanied the staff assignment schedule, which also outlines the placement of staffing to ensure ratios are maintained. Interviews with the Director and the PREA Compliance Manager describe the development process used in the completion of the annual assessment of staffing. The Director confirmed the report's statement of no judicial, federal, or oversight body's findings of inadequacies. The facility has maintained staffing throughout the past year without going under minimum staffing. The facility has 20 cameras that cover all the interior and exterior spaces. The Director also supports the idea that the agency can quickly support the facility when needs are identified.

The Auditor observed during the tour and in subsequent movement around the facility how staff are positioned to monitor and interact with residents actively. The Auditor saw the staff management of the population on both day and evening shifts to see if the operational ratios were maintained. The Auditor also saw residents' management in the formal programming of school and other out-of-room activities. During the tour, the director discussed supervision levels in outside recreation. Wake JDC has two small fenced-in recreation yards, one adjacent to each housing unit. The Auditor recognized that unit staff had unobstructed views of the entire housing floor. Shift Supervisors have an office space in a former control center, allowing them to observe directly in both housing units and the dining/visiting room. This design provides improved safety for all by allowing a quick response. The facility Director has access to the camera feeds in his office. The Auditor also confirmed with facility and agency leadership that no lawsuits or outside agency monitoring have raised concerns about the staffing pattern. The residents' interviews further supported the fact that they have access to staff and supervisors regularly.

Indicator (b). NCDPS Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy, as noted in indicator a) describes the required Content of the staffing plan. PREA Policy 100 further defines elements that should be included in determining a facility's need. "a. Generally accepted detention and correctional practices; b. Any judicial findings of inadequacy; c. Any findings of inadequacy from federal investigative agencies; d. Any findings of inadequacy from internal or external oversight bodies; e. All components of the facility's physical plant (including "blind-spots" or areas where employees, offenders, or safekeepers may be isolated); f. The composition of the offender and safekeeper population; g. The number and placement of supervisory employees; h. Institutional programs occurring on a particular shift; i. Any applicable State or local laws, regulations, or standards; j. The prevalence of substantiated and unsubstantiated incidents of sexual abuse; and k. Any other relevant factors." The staffing plan does address these concerns. The facility has had no allegations of sexual assault, has not been cited for inadequacy, and is not under the review of any oversight body or court in the past year.

The staffing plan for the Wake Juvenile Detention Center allows the management to adjust the deployment of staff as needed and in response to critical positions. When staff call out, there is an ability to mandate staff to ensure the overall safety of residents. The Juvenile Detention Center has two units. Each unit has two officers who provide direct supervision whenever residents are out of their rooms during waking hours and at least one staff in each unit when they are in their rooms sleeping. Residents are always under the direct supervision of staff out of their rooms. Custody staff sits in class during school to assist in the youth's education. Documentation was provided to the Auditor, informing me there were no instances where the supervision minimums were not maintained in the past year. The JDC also has medical, mental health, and case management office space adjacent to the housing floor, allowing additional eyes and ears to monitor and respond to the youth's needs.

The Director and supervisory staff confirmed that at no time has the facility run a shift under the minimum staffing complement of 1 to 8 staff members during waking hours and 1 to 16 during sleeping hours. The NCDJDP has staffed these facilities with a normal ratio better than the federally mandated minimums for direct staff coverage. The Auditor reviewed the posted schedule and the master log to consider compliance. Residents' support staff are always available to them and did not voice a concern about a lack of staffing at any time. Residents were out of their rooms during the day and evening shifts.

Indicator (c) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center maintains a minimum custody staffing ratio of one staff for every eight juveniles during waking hours and one juvenile for every sixteen juveniles during the overnight periods. NCDPS PREA Policy requires, " Each center director shall maintain staff ratios of a minimum of 1:8 during resident waking hours and 1:16 during resident sleeping hours, except during limited and discrete exigent circumstances, which shall be fully documented. Only certified staff shall be included in these ratios." The Auditor also confirmed the facility would never operate with one staff member on the overnight shift even if the population was less than 16 residents. The facility documents both the population and the custody staff working the shifts in the master log book. This document also shows all callouts or significant incidents that would impact ratios. The Director confirmed that the facility had not run a shift under the minimum staffing complement. The Auditor requested the staffing actuals for different dates over three months. The review yielded a direct custody staff ratio during awake hours, on average 1 line staff for every six residents. The overnight staffing ran consistently, with one custody staff member in each unit, which housed up to 12 juveniles. The Auditor requested in advance the staffing assignments for random dates in the month leading up to the audit. The Auditor reviewed log books on site to ensure consistent assignment of staffing that meets or exceeds the required ratios. Observations on the tour further supported that ratios are maintained in operational practice as residents move about the building for free time, education, and recreation. The facility does not include Shift Supervisors in the count of staff unless there are multiple individuals. The Auditor initially raised a question about the ratio on weekend after my initial documentation review. I was shown through logs and a schedule that was not initially provided that trained Court Service staff pick up shifts and ensure the minimum ratios are met. Other non-custody staff are not used in the calculation of the ratios. The units have offices with trained and certified staff who provide case management. Given their proximity to the population, these non-custody positions provide additional support and monitoring.

Indicator (d). The PREA Coordinator, the NCDJJ Head's representative, and the facility Director each described in interviews various communication points that could impact staffing and technology deployment during the year. The Facility Director and the agency PREA Coordinator approve the Staffing Plan annually, and the most recent version was requested as it was not initially uploaded to the OAS. The plan is descriptive of the population and the staff-to-resident ratio expected in the unit on different shifts. The facility has had no PREA allegation in the past twelve months. The Director and PREA Coordinator both support that any identified need for monitoring technology or staffing would be presented immediately upon any identified staffing or monitoring gaps. This commitment to NCDJJ to act swiftly was on display as they continued to advertise for new direct care positions to reduce agency-wide vacancies. The Auditor saw new stories on TV about NCDJJDP hiring staff during the week of the audit. The facility has a system in place to document all changes in the schedule, and the Director reports he would be notified if the shift was at risk of going below ratios.

Indicator (e) The Auditor was provided with documentation to support routine unannounced rounds are made by supervisory staff. This is required by the agency PREA policy (page 13) and in documented logbooks. The Policy states, "Center Directors or designated supervisors will conduct unadvertised rounds monthly during all shifts to identify and deter staff sexual abuse and sexual harassment. The Director/designee shall document unadvertised rounds in the logbook and in a separate file/document dedicated to recording (person conducting, time, relevant notes) unannounced rounds. Staff members are prohibited from alerting other staff members that these supervisory rounds are occurring unless such information is related to the legitimate operational functions of the center." The Auditor also requested evidence of the center supervisors moving about the facility during their shifts. The Auditor was able to review logbooks during the tours and observe the Shift Supervisors' management of staff. The witnessed active management supports Juvenile's clear access to requests to speak with them if they didn't feel comfortable with the line staff working. The Auditor confirmed that formal unannounced tours by the Director or PCM and routine supervisory tours occur with the unit staff and residents. Residents support that they have daily access to supervisory staff in the two-unit facility.

Compliance Determination:

North Carolina Department of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention's PREA policy sets forth requirements for the staffing plan, including the ratios as addressed in indicator (c), the requirements for documentation of staffing deviations, the requirement of unannounced supervisory rounds, and the annual review of staffing needs. The Wake Juvenile Detention Center has developed a plan in a narrative format that addresses the eleven factors to be considered in indicator (a). The facility is not under any current or recent judgment for inadequacy. The plan is reviewed annually with in-house administration, and with the DJJ PREA Office, any request for staffing or electronic surveillance support would go to the Department Juvenile Justice divisional leadership. Indicator (b) was not applicable as there were no instances where the minimum staffing levels were not maintained.

During the tour, the Auditor recognized the facility was designed with good lines of sight, allowing for informal observation of space and the Director's knowledge of potential risk areas. In addition to custody staff, the medical and education staff

	provide an additional resource of information, supervision, and observation of residents' behaviors during the day. Supervisory staff were observed routinely touring the facility and directing staff assignments during the shift. Wake Juvenile Detention Center also has leadership staff make unannounced off-shift visits to the facility. The standard is determined to comply based on policy, the documentation provided, interviews and observations made throughout the onsite audit, and documentation provided consistent with the standard. The Auditor also considered the juveniles who reported they felt safe and that staff were available to them if they needed to speak with someone.

Indicator (a) The NCDJJ has multiple policies prohibiting cross-gender strip searches or body cavity searches. Juvenile Justice Facilities Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy and Procedures (page 12) prohibits cross-gender observation of any strip search or body cavity search of juveniles. It states, "The center shall not conduct cross-gender strip searches except in emergency circumstances, where other remedies are not available, or when performed by medical practitioners. Emergency situations shall be thoroughly documented in the logbook and approved by the Center Director during the emergency situation when and where practicable." A review of the NCDJJ Detention Services Policy and Requirements and Procedures, PREA 100 policy, and a review of the training outline all support further the expectation of same-gender strip searches in juvenile facilities. The policy language goes on to state that body cavity searches must only be completed with probable cause and only at an off-site medical facility. The Wake Juvenile Detention Center Pre-Audit Questionnaire stated no such emergencies have occurred causing a cross-gender strip search or a situation where a resident was sent out for a body cavity search, and this was further confirmed through interviews with both staff and residents. Descriptions by staff and residents of the strip search process confirmed there was no contact between the resident and the staff person observing the search. The residents interviewed confirmed there were no cross-gender strip searches.

Indicator (b) Wake Juvenile Detention Center does not perform cross-gender pat searches except in exigent circumstances. Pre-Audit Questionnaire and interviews confirmed that this has not occurred. Staff were able to state the policy's expectations: "The center shall not conduct cross-gender pat-down searches except in exigent circumstances. The center shall thoroughly document in the logbook all searches of juveniles and include the gender of the juvenile and staff member." The interviews with staff and residents confirmed that there have been no cross-gender pat searches at the co-ed facility. Staff understood that any cross-gender pat searches should occur only in exigent circumstances with supervisory approval. There were no reported cross-gender pat searches of residents at Wake JDC.

Indicator (c) As noted in indicators (a) and (b), the policy requires documentation of cross-gender strip or pat searches of male and female residents, including the emergent reason for the search. The facility appears to have sufficient staffing to further limit any reason for a cross-gender search to occur. Absent any occasion, the Auditor can only assess based on policy, staff knowledge, and resident confirmation; the practice does not happen at Wake Juvenile Detention Center. Supervisors were aware all exigent circumstances would need to be documented.

Indicator (d). NCDJJ has, in policy, staff training, and reported practice, put forth an expectation to ensure residents are able to shower, shower, perform bodily functions, and change clothing without nonmedical staff of the opposite gender viewing their breasts, buttocks, or genitalia area, except in exigent circumstances or when such viewing is incidental to routine cell checks. The Juvenile Justice Facilities Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy and Procedures mirrors the indicator when it states, "Staff shall ensure that residents shower, perform bodily functions, and change clothing without nonmedical staff of the opposite gender viewing their breasts, buttocks, or genitalia -- except in exigent circumstances or when such viewing is incidental to routine room checks." The Auditor observed that residents have magnetic sheets that are put over cell windows when changing in the rooms or using the bathroom. Wake JDC only has single-person cells with a toilet. Each of the two units has single-person showers. The Shower units are behind doors that lock behind the resident. All staff were observed knocking before looking into the rooms to allow for a resident to cover up.

The policy further states, "Staff of the opposite gender shall announce their presence when entering a resident living unit. In centers, staff of the opposite gender shall be required to announce their presence when entering an area where residents are likely to be showering, performing bodily functions, or changing clothing." The Auditor was able to hear announcements being made while moving around the facility. The size and staffing usually at least one of each gender staff working the shift. Residents support that they are never required to be unclothed in front of opposite-gender staff, and they confirmed that opposite-gender staff announce themselves at the start of their shift and knock before entering or looking in the bedrooms. Residents are supposed to get changed in the bathroom. The facility has signage reminding staff of the expectation of making the announcements. All staff have signed a document OPA-T30, which is an acknowledgment form on the limits of cross-gender observations and the need to make cross-gender announcements. The facility also logs the announcements at the beginning of the shift. The Auditor reviewed the logs on tour to confirm opposite gender announcements are also logged. Discussions with resident support: they know that both male and female staff work the shift and could be looking in the room to complete checks.

Indicator (e) NCDJJ Policy and memos set forth the requirement that Transgender individuals are not searched to determine genital status. The policy states, "The center shall not search or physically examine a transgender or intersex resident for the sole purpose of determining the resident's genital status. If the resident's genital status is unknown, it may be determined during conversations with the resident, by reviewing medical records, or, if necessary, by learning that information as part of a broader medical examination conducted in private by a medical practitioner." Trained Intake staff and Medical staff complete intakes at the JDC. They confirmed that if the resident was resistant to discussing the topic, they would be referred to the medical staff with whom they may be more comfortable in having the conversation. Medical staff confirms that they see all new admissions to the facility and would be able to have these conversations with the individual. There were no transgender or intersex individuals in the current population, and none were admitted in the past year, reportedly.

Indicator (f) The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention trains all staff when completing the searches of transgender or intersex individuals that it be respectful, professional, and in the least intrusive practice possible for searching residents. All Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention staff are trained to routinely use the back of their hand instead of the front when completing pat searches. The training curriculum on safe searches provided addressed considerations when searching transgender or intersex residents. The NCDJJD also provides all its staff with training on working with the LGBTI population. The search training material states the following: "Searches of transgender and intersex residents shall be performed in a professional and respectful manner, and in the least intrusive manner possible, consistent with security needs." The staff interviews completed by the Auditor confirmed an understanding that they had been provided training on how to effectively work with transgender, intersex, and gender non-conforming individuals. The staff confirmed the importance of being professional and respectful during the process, and they understood that many juveniles have past traumatic histories, which increases the discomfort in completing these searches.

Compliance Determination:

The NCDJJD has several policies in place to address the various elements of this standard. The DJJD policy directs staff consistent with the standards on pat search, strip searches, resident rights not to be naked in front of the staff of the opposite gender, and procedures for working with transgender and intersex residents. Supporting documentation for this standard included training records, training outlines, staff acknowledgment forms, and policy. There were no transgender or intersex individuals with whom to discuss searches. Information confirming no exigent circumstance of cross-gender searches has occurred at the facility in the past three years. Interviews with staff and residents supported compliance with standard elements and policy expectations. The Auditor observed practices in the facility, posted signage, and had staff describe how searches are performed to determine compliance. Absent any exigent circumstance, there were no incidents to review. Compliance was based on policy, training materials, interviews with staff and residents, and observed practices that support the effort to ensure limits to cross-gender searches or observations occur.

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center takes appropriate steps to ensure that residents with disabilities have an equal opportunity to participate in or benefit from all aspects of the agency's efforts to provide a PREA-safe environment. As a juvenile facility serving sentenced youth, it must assess and provide services to individuals with medical disabilities. Juveniles with hearing or visual difficulties would be supported by staff in understanding PREA until corrective medical measures would be put in place. All NCDJJ facilities document these youth in a form for "exceptional children." The Exceptional Children form asks about 1) Physical Disabilities, 2) Assessing the juvenile's ability to follow directions, 3) if they could read independently, 4) if they exhibit cognitive deficiencies, or 5) if they are non-English speaking. Staff providing the individualized education document the steps on the "exceptional children form," and the PREA Compliance Manager reviews it, and they are referred for additional individual PREA education. The Auditor confirmed with residents that staff was available to assist in understanding the postings or documents provided at intake. There were no individuals who were hearing or visually impaired. The Auditor was able to speak to individuals who had educational delays but not significant developmental delays. The residents, with significant academic challenges, would be identified by the teacher at Wake JDC's fully accredited educational environment. Discussions with facility medical, education, and leadership confirmed that individuals with special needs can be supported in understanding all the program rules and services, including those around the zero-tolerance expectation for sexual abuse or harassment. The training all juvenile officers take includes topics where they learn about working with individuals in the environment who have physical, social, emotional, and learning disabilities.

Indicator (b) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center has a limited population of individuals with whom English is not the primary language. There were no individuals in the population at the time of the site visit with whom the Auditor would have needed to use interpretive services. There was signage throughout the facility about PREA safety, including posting in Spanish, the most common other language spoken by youth. The Wake JDC facility has had no instances where interpretive services were needed to speak with juveniles. Some staff report using the service to speak with parents or guardians in the past. The NCDPS has contracted with interpretive services through United Language Group, which can provide video and audio interpretive services. Documentation supports that they can get written translations of documents in addition to visual interpretive services. The United Language Services website confirms they can provide professional interpreters in 200 languages 24 hours per day. The staff interviewed knew how to access the information to be able to access the service. The School teachers can help identify language and comprehension issues requiring enhanced instruction on the facility's zero-tolerance policy toward sexual activity of any type and how they could report a concern.

Indicator (c) Documentation reviewed by the Auditor stated that resident interpreters were not used. Staff knew using residents to interpret for each other was inappropriate except in extreme emergencies. This prohibition is also addressed in the agency PREA policy, which states, "Juvenile Justice will not rely on resident interpreters, resident readers, or other types of resident assistants except in limited circumstances where an extended delay in obtaining an effective interpreter could compromise the resident's safety, the performance of first-responder duties, or the investigation of the resident's allegations.." No individuals in the current population were LEP or needed aid in communications. The intake staff knew it was inappropriate to use residents to help interview a new resident.

Compliance Determination

NCDJJ PREA policy addresses equal access to services for those who have a disability or have limited English proficiency. The Auditor was able to speak with a resident with a cognitive disability but no individuals who were LEP or significantly disabled. Wake JDC provides all residents with education about PREA upon admission. The facility had PREA Educational materials available in English and Spanish, and they reported they had no LEP admissions in the past year. As a juvenile facility with a fully accredited school program, all youth are assessed academically, which will further identify impairments to understanding. The residents reported knowing their rights, how to report PREA concerns, and, if they had difficulty understanding information, how to get help.

Staff knew it was inappropriate to use residents to interpret for each other except in extreme emergencies. Line staff knew how to access an outside interpreter.

Compliance was based on interviews with staff, residents, and administration, as well as the hard materials (posters, handbooks, video) and policies that support equal access to all services. The educational materials seen repeatedly on the tour support ongoing access to information.

Summary Determination

Indicator (a). North Carolina Department of Public Safety strictly prohibits employment or contracting the services of individuals who have engaged in or have been convicted of engaging in or attempting to engage in or administratively be adjudicated for sexual assault. The agency utilizes the same language requirements for contracted employees. Interviews with Human Resource staff support the process of screening all applicants for employment or contracted and volunteer services at the Wake Juvenile Detention Center. The Auditor reviewed the online employment application process, which requires potential candidates to confirm that they have not engaged in any form of sexual misconduct described in indicator (a). The application in form 005 requires the applicant to confirm they have never engaged in prior sexual assault in a prison or jail, any attempt to engage in sexual activity by force in the community, or through coercion or engagement with an individual who could not consent. The language on the form is Directly from the US DOJ Final Rule on the "National Standards to Prevent, Detect, and Respond to Prison Rape under the Prison Rape Elimination Act." The Auditor confirmed the questions were asked at the time of hire and promotional periods. The Auditor reviewed staff files, including individuals hired in the last year. The NCDPS has had the PREA questions as part of the employment applications since 2013. The Auditor was able to see, in the HR files reviewed, where the questions were asked of employees at hire, promotion, or annual reviews. HR 013, filled out once the person is offered a job or application for promotion, asks the same PREA questions asked in the application process (HR-005). The document states, consistent with Language in DJJ PREA 100 policy, "The NCDPS may not hire or promote anyone who may have contact with inmates, residents, or offenders under supervision, who answer "yes" to any of the following questions:

1. Have you ever engaged in sexual abuse in a prison, jail, lockup, community confinement facility, juvenile facility, or other institution?
2. Have you ever been convicted of engaging or attempting to engage in sexual activity in a community facilitated by force or coercion, or if the victim did not consent or was unable to consent or refuse?
3. Have you been civilly or administratively adjudicated for having engaged in the activities described?"

Discussions with facility and agency leadership confirm individuals with prior histories described in this indicator would be prohibited from employment or contact with the juvenile population at an NCDJJD facility. The Auditor also reviewed a list of disqualifying charges prohibiting employment at NCDPS and its Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention facilities.

Indicator (b). The North Carolina Department of Public Safety has a policy language consistent with the standard. "DPS shall consider any incidents of sexual harassment in determining whether to hire or promote anyone, or to enlist the services of any contractor or custodial agents, who may have contact with offenders, residents, or safe-keepers." Reportedly, the facility had nine contracted employees in the past year approved to have contact with residents. The agency has procedures to complete prior institutional employment checks on staff and contractors to see if there are any concerns related to sexual misconduct. In addition to the facility HR person, the Director and regional HR staff will review the applicant's record, including individuals who may work at other NCDPS facilities. If there is a prior history of sexual harassment complaints, the identified information would be shared with the facility and agency senior leadership to determine the appropriateness for the position being applied. Contracted employees must go through the review at the regional office level before they can be approved to work at the facility.

Indicator (c). The North Carolina Department of Public Safety completes criminal background checks on all employees. File reviews completed by the Auditor confirmed that the process is in place and is consistently done for all new employees and at the required 5-year intervals in indicator (e). The Check includes a criminal background check and prior institutional checks. The Auditor reviewed 39% of the 26 employees' files while on-site, including documentation of background checks. The state does not allow criminal records in the HR file once it has been run, and if it needs to be reviewed, the record is then destroyed. Random sampling is used to confirm the practice, which is documented through the form sent to the regional office, the response about the outcome, and if the individual is approved for employment. The Agency added the abuse/neglect registry checks in the previous round of audits, and the Auditor was provided with documentation that all current employees have been run and have not come back with any concerns. Criminal Background checks are run by a central office staff person who will send a notice when the individual has passed the criminal background check, prior institutional employer check, and the abuse registry check. The facility will also send a form requesting it is run again every 5 years and when the employee is up for a promotion. The Auditor reviewed the 5 of the 8 hires in the last year and a random sample of 10 additional individuals.

Indicator (d). Indicator (a) states that Wake Juvenile Detention Center completes criminal background checks on all contracted employees. The agency provides documentation supporting child abuse registries are also consulted. The NCDPS follows the same process for hiring contractors or volunteers that they do with any employees, including the criminal background check, looking at state and multi-state criminal histories, driving records, sexual offender listings, and child abuse registries. Information on contracted individuals was asked for and received.

Indicator (e). Wake JDC provided the Auditor with information on random employees, including individuals who were employed for over 5 years and had criminal background checks completed in the last five years. The random sample was confirmed by reviewing files onsite with the Human Resources staff and then uploaded to the OAS.

Indicator (f). As noted in Indicator (a), all Wake JDC employees are asked to complete the Employee Application, including questions required in Indicator a). After being hired, the employees also complete a series of forms, including a DPS Employment Verification and a DPS Employment Statement. In both documents, the NCDPS has required the individual to confirm they have not engaged in any of the described activities listed in indicator (a). Staff are asked the aforementioned questions and are given a continuing responsibility to disclose such misconduct. The form sets forth a continuing affirmative duty to disclose any such misconduct. All employees confirm by signature the requirement to report any violation of the prohibited acts described in indicator (a) within 24 hours of occurrence. HR 013 Employee statement has the individual acknowledge this requirement directly after the PREA Questions listed in indicator (a). "I acknowledge and understand that should I become the subject of these prohibitions in my current position or any subsequent departmental positions I may hold involve contact with persons in confinement or under supervision, I will notify the departmental management within 24 hours of my involvement in any of the above.”

Indicator (g). All Wake Juvenile Detention Center employees must disclose all allegations of misconduct, and any material omission or false information regarding misconduct will be grounds for termination. The agency Employee Applicant form explains that failure to report criminal charges and convictions may be subject to termination. The Auditor reviewed information from background checks and confirmed that no individuals had been disciplined or terminated in the past year for falsification of information related to past sexual misconduct or criminal behaviors. Form F-5A Application for Certification has the employee sign the following statement at the time of hire. The statement tells the employee that the condition exists throughout their employment with NCDPS. “I acknowledge that any omission, falsification, or misrepresentation of information or procedures, by either the candidate or this Agency, throughout the employment and/or certification process may result in certification being denied, suspended, or revoked by the Commission at any time, now or later, and may result in sanctions against this Agency.’

Indicator (h). The North Carolina DJJDP allows for the agency, with proper releases of information, to disclose to other institutions any PREA-related concerns. Interviews with Human Resources staff confirm they make requests of both internal and outside employers when hiring. Still, they report they do not frequently receive similar requests from prior employees who go outside the NCDPS system. No requests were directed to Wake JDC about prior employees, but the regional office may handle these requests if the request went there.

Compliance Determination

The North Carolina Department of Public Safety has policies in place to address the standard's requirements, including the completion of background checks and pre-employment screening that supports the agency's efforts to screen out predatory candidates from employment. The pre-employment screening process is the same as that for other law enforcement applicants in the state of North Carolina. The Auditor interviewed the Human Resources staff at the Wake JDC. The facility's Human Resources staff works with regional Juvenile Justice Office staff to process candidates and obtain criminal background checks. The facility has all staff and contractors undergo the same criminal background checks as employees. The NCDPS has employees sign an acknowledgment form that addresses this standard's various elements. The Auditor was also able to review appropriate personnel forms and criminal background checks for both employees and contractors. Many of the elements are in place to ensure potential staff, contractors, and volunteers hired are not a risk to the youth at the facility. The Agency has a system in place to check child abuse registries of potential candidates for employment or contracting.

	Compliance is based on policy, the documentation reviewed, and random files supporting the process in place. All staff are aware of the criminal background process at hire and their obligation to report any contact with law enforcement, including any of the behaviors described in indicator (a).

Indicator (a) The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention facilities are not responsible for the completion of criminal investigations, including sexual assaults. The facility has trained investigators who would only complete administrative investigations. The facility would call local law enforcement staff at the Raleigh Police Department to complete criminal investigations, including sexual assaults. As NCDJJD is part of the state's overarching law enforcement agency, Investigations may also be completed by the state's Office of Special Investigations. A letter was provided to the Auditor Showing the NCDPS reminding the police and sheriffs across the state of PREA requirements when investigating at state facilities. The facility will have a trained Investigator of sexual abuse report to the facility immediately to help determine if the case is potentially criminal in nature. The agency's PREA Policy requires that local law enforcement be notified if there is a believe that a criminal act has occurred. "If there is evidence or suspicion that a delinquent act or crime may have been committed, local law enforcement should be contacted to conduct their investigation." A review of the facility PREA response protocol and a memo from the PCM confirmed this expectation further.

The Agency also has a policy on Law Enforcement Notifications, which requires the notification of law enforcement for all criminal acts, including sexual assault.

Agency policy states, "Upon receiving an allegation that a resident was sexually abused or harassed while confined at another center (to include agencies outside of DPS), the Center Director that received the allegation shall notify the Center Director or appropriate office where the alleged abuse occurred and shall also notify the DJJ Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy and Requirements and Procedures (R&P) 11 appropriate investigative agency.” The Policy goes on to require “The Center Director providing the notification shall document in TROI that the information was provided.” TROI is where the state's critical incidents are uploaded for administrative review. There were no allegations in the past year that required a criminal investigation. The NCDPS has sent notices to the state’s Sheriffs and Police Departments on PREA investigation requirements for investigations. Included in the document is information on the National Protocol for Sexual Assault Medical Examinations, the need to seek services of SAFEs/SANEs, and the importance of offering a victim advocate for forensic examinations and investigatory interviews.

Indicator (b) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center medical staff would not complete forensic exams. The PREA Policy states, “if an act of sexual abuse involving penetration within the preceding 72 hours is alleged and/or forensic medical evidence (e.g., semen) may be present on the victim’s person, arrangements shall be promptly made to have the alleged resident victim examined by a trained and certified, external medical professional indicated on the JJ-approved list of qualified medical centers per the Juvenile Justice Medical Protocol.”

The Auditor spoke with a representative of Wake Medical Center to confirm that SANE nurses are trained with an approved curriculum that includes the National Protocol for Sexual Assault Medical Forensic Examinations or other protocols promoted by the International Association of Forensic Examiners. Interviews with hospital staff where forensic exams would occur confirmed there is a standardized practice used to ensure consistent evidence collection. The Auditor also reviewed Best Practices in the Criminal Justice Response to Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault: Guidance for CCR/SART Response Protocols and reports from the state crime lab of evidence kit collection. The Best Practices in the Criminal Justice Response to Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault: Guidance for CCR/SART Response Protocols was developed with funding from the US DOJ Violence Against Women Act. The updated protocol the Auditor reviewed references the “A National Protocol for Sexual Assault Medical Forensic Examinations: Adults/Adolescents: 2nd edition”. A review of the document shows support for a victim-based approach. The document provides guidance on communication with victims and evidence for law enforcement to consider at the crime scene, and it provides direction to medical staff on considerations and promotes the use of forensically trained nurses. The NC Board of Nursing confirmed that the curriculum used for training comes from the International Association of Forensic Nurses, which references the DOJ document.

Indicator (c) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center offers victims of sexual assault the ability to have a forensic exam without cost. The Auditor confirmed that there is no cost for sexual assault exams. The Auditor reviewed state statutes and a state website showing the state's obligation to pay for examinations since 2009. Funds are provided through the North Carolina Crime Victims Compensation Fund. The Victim Compensation Fund is part of the North Carolina Department of Public Safety (NCDPS), the parent agency of the North Carolina Department of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (NCDJJD), which runs Wake JDC. As noted in indicator b), the state's Nursing Board confirmed the availability of Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners. Local hospital staff who report funding for exams comes from a different fund within the state government to ensure all victims come forward. Juveniles are guaranteed access to emergency services outside the facility, including forensic exams. Discussions with the local hospital confirmed that they have SANE-certified nurses. If one is not on site, one will be called in before having a noncertified medical practitioner complete the exam. No juveniles from Wake Juvenile Detention Center have reportedly been seen at the hospital for a forensic exam. . The Coordinated response plan for Wake Juvenile Detention Center would have juveniles seen at the Wake Medical Children's Hospital, where there are reportedly SANE nurses.

Indicator (d) Wake Juvenile Detention Center had an agreement with the local rape crisis agency to provide support services to victims of sexual assault. A MOU with the Family Violence and Prevention Center of Wake County was provided. The Auditor was able to confirm with the agency that they are willing to support youth at Wake JDC who have been victims of sexual violence. The Family Violence and Prevention Center, which also goes by the name InterAct, is the local Rape Crisis Center (RCC). Local Hospital staff confirmed the practice of also ensuring a rape crisis advocate is offered routinely as part of any forensic exams. The hospital representative confirmed that they normally call the RCC but would also work with the Family Violence and Prevention Center of Wake County to provide trained accompaniment. The NCDPS also trains staff who volunteer to serve as PREA Support Persons (PSP) to work with victims of sexual assault. Though they are not specifically trained in forensic accompaniment, they serve as " go-to' persons for victims during and after the investigative process. The PSP will encourage the client to utilize the rape crisis center. The Family Violence and Prevention Center of Wake County (InterAct) staff confirmed the MOU and the working relationship with the facility.

Indicator (e) Both hospital and agency staff confirm that a rape crisis staff would be available to help a victim through a forensic exam and criminal justice interview and provide ongoing support and referral to the victim. The Auditor was able to confirm with the Family Violence and Prevention Center of Wake County staff their ability to do accompaniments for forensic exams and victim interviews. The PREA Compliance

Manager confirms a willingness to work with local and state rape crisis agencies to build on experiences. The Auditor was able to review the MOUs with the rape crisis center supporting access to advocates from Family Violence and Prevention Center for forensic exams. Wake JDC residents confirm that they could have professional visits as support on-site. The rape crisis agency reports they are able to provide accompaniment services at the local hospitals. The agreement is a permanent agreement stating their working relationship will continue until either party decides to end it. The agreement spells out the responsibility of both agencies. There were no current youth using the services of the rape crisis agency. In a discussion with the Family Violence and Prevention Center representative, they confirmed they hope to build on the relationship.

Indicator (f) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center would have local law enforcement come to the facility to complete a criminal investigation. The Agency will also notify the Department of Social Services, which is responsible for investigations of abuse claims involving youth. NCDPS will assign an investigator from the Juvenile Justice facilities to complete an administrative investigation unless the alleged perpetrator is a staff person; then, the agency's Office of Special Investigations (OSI) will get involved.

Indicator (g) The Auditor is not required to review this indicator.

Indicator (h) NA- The Department of Public Safety offers all residents in the system access to rape crisis services. The Auditor received information on the training of Rape Crisis Advocates in North Carolina. The facility has built a system of trained staff to provide emotional support to residents who report sexual abuse allegations. The PREA Support position allows the Juvenile who turns down the services of the Rape Crisis Agency can still get support from the staff of the facility.

Compliance Determination

The North Carolina Department of Public Safety has put in place the necessary elements to ensure immediate response to allegations of sexual assault. The agency has trained its staff on how to preserve evidence until trained law enforcement staff can arrive. The state of North Carolina has in place trained Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners available at the hospitals in the region, including the Nash General Hospital. The review of several websites and interviews with staff confirm the utilization of a standard protocol for evidence collection in sexual abuse cases. The Auditor spoke with hospital staff, who confirmed the availability of SANEs at UNC Children's Hospital. Hospital staff confirmed this service would be done free of charge, and if a SANE is not on duty, they will attempt to call one in. It is also reported that a rape crisis agency would be called for victims of sexual abuse. In

	determining compliance, the auditor considered the availability of resources to effectively investigate, secure, and process evidence and the policies directing such investigations. Also considered in this determination was the overall staff knowledge displayed in the random staff interviews of how to preserve evidence, including instructions to the residents involved. Finally, the Auditor considered the information available from state agencies, local law enforcement, non-profit victims' organizations, and the hospital.

The Wake Juvenile Detention Center does not employ an individual with law enforcement credentials at JDCs, so they will work with the local police/ Sheriff's departments on any criminal investigation. Wake JDC has not had a criminal and or administrative investigation of sexual abuse in the past year. The facility had one allegation of sexual harassment that was investigated. The Auditor did not have any staff or juveniles report that they had made a PREA allegation in the past year. The agency's PREA Policy states, "All sexual abuse and sexual harassment incidents reported to DSS.

Additionally, all sexual abuse and staff on juvenile sexual harassment incidents are reported to law enforcement." The Agency's Law Enforcement Notification further explains the process, and both policies state that staff failure to report incidents will result in discipline up to and including termination for first offenses. The Wake Juvenile Detention Center has had no incidents of sexual misconduct.

Indicator (b) The NCDPS has a policy that addresses this standard's requirements. The PREA policy also complies with NC State Statutes, which govern law enforcement duties. "Upon receiving an allegation that a resident was sexually abused or harassed while confined at another center (to include agencies outside of DPS), the Center Director that received the allegation shall notify the Center Director or appropriate office where the alleged abuse occurred and shall also notify the appropriate investigative agency." Agency policy can be searched through the state website, and all contact with outside law enforcement must be documented in incident reports and facility logs. An incident report must also be entered into the agency incident portal TROI to document the referral. All PREA Incidents are also sent to the NCDJDP PREA Office. The facility also has a PREA Incident checklist that will document the notification to local law enforcement and the facility investigator. As noted previously, NCDPS, the state's law enforcement agency, has notified all local police and Sheriff's Offices of PREA Investigation expectations.

The trained investigator described how a central office staff member assigned to an investigation would review the TROI initial report and determine the most appropriate individual to complete the administrative investigation. The Investigator reports that they can be sent to other Juvenile Justice facilities as needed to complete investigations. Wake does not currently have an investigator on staff, so an assigned individual would be required to respond to allegations of sexual misconduct.

Indicator (c) Agency PREA policy describes the relationship between the facility and the expected criminal investigators who come to the JDC. Pages 14-18 of Juvenile Justice Facilities Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy and Procedures describe the expectations of the investigators and the facility in ensuring a thorough investigative process occurs. The Auditor also reviewed documents from the Head of the Department of Public Safety to all of the state law enforcement agencies on completing PREA-related sexual abuse investigations and a policy on Law Enforcement Notifications. The policy also discusses the need to have individuals seen by trained SAFE nurses at local hospitals. The JDC Law Enforcement Notification Policy further describes the communication that should occur between the Wake JDC and the Wake County Sheriff's Office. The Director was aware of the need to ensure open communication between the agencies would occur. The NCDPS Secretary has previously provided a memo to local law enforcement agencies on their responsibilities to investigate sexual assault allegations with an understanding of the Prison Rape Elimination Act.

Indicator (d) Auditor is not required to audit this provision.

Indicator (e) Auditor is not required to audit this provision.

Compliance Determination

The North Carolina Department of Public Safety has a policy and trained investigative staff in place or through agreement to ensure all allegations of sexual assault and sexual harassment are investigated. The JDC has developed a relationship with locally trained law enforcement staff persons who will ensure all crimes, including sexual assaults, are investigated. In addition, the Department of Social Services (child welfare agency) is also required to be notified under state law. The Juvenile Detention Center initially investigates all incidents to determine if the allegation is criminal. The agency has systems in place to ensure police notifications are made when criminal acts occur. The facility investigator, when evidence supports a criminal act that occurred, the Police will be called immediately. Compliance was determined based on the published policy, procedural tools, and the investigative information provided by the agency staff. Interviews further supported compliance in that the agency takes all allegations seriously and ensures the impartiality of staff-involved events.

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center ensures all staff are trained in the agency's Zero Tolerance for Sexual Misconduct toward residents. All employees, no matter what role in the institution, are aware of their role in preventing, detecting, and responding to sexual assault and sexual harassment of residents. Random staff were able to describe in the interviews how they keep residents PREA safe in their day-to-day jobs. The staff members knew the signs and symptoms of someone who may be victimized and the rights of residents related to PREA. Staff also were able to give examples of why sexual assaults may occur. Staff persons confirmed they get training on how to avoid getting into undue familiarity with a resident, the criminal liability for failing to report a PREA incident, and how to respectfully work with LGBTI residents. The staff knew to use the transgender or intersex resident's preferred name and pronouns. Staff knew that a multidisciplinary committee reviews transgender residents' cases individually to determine housing, search procedures, hygiene accommodations, and treatment planning. Staff provided information on the 11 required elements of this indicator that they have been trained on. The staff knew they were mandated to report all forms of abuse or neglect to facility leadership and the Department of Social Services as prescribed in North Carolina law. The policy states, "All employees shall receive initial instruction related to sexual abuse and sexual harassment zero-tolerance policy, the right for residents to be free from sexual abuse and harassment, the right for residents and staff to be free from retaliation for reporting sexual abuse and harassment, and how to avoid inappropriate relationships with residents. Training will also include dynamics and common reactions to resident sexual abuse and sexual harassment, effective and professional communication with residents, including lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, intersex, or gender-nonconforming residents, and relevant laws regarding mandatory reporting and the age of consent.” The Auditor also reviewed related training on how to maintain professional staff/client relations. In addition to the annual PREA training, the agency has added other courses closely related, including one on undue familiarity between staff and residents. The Training 101 course outline and slides addressed the various portions of the indicator. The 72-page document shows the reader how, in close to 100 slides, the agency provides a thorough review of expectations toward keeping juveniles safe from sexual abuse. Each student is also required to pass a knowledge test that was also provided for both the initial and follow-up PREA courses offered to staff. The facility also has other documents from the training posted to provide constant reminders of the training, including red flags for sexual misconduct, reporting options, and cross-gender announcement reminders. The Agency has added a series of 2-foot by 3-foot posters explaining aspects of NCDJJD’s zero-tolerance tolerance toward sexual misconduct to staff and residents. These informative documents on PREA law and related topics are provided in English and Spanish. The posters cover a variety of related topics, including how to report a concern, knowing your rights, what Gender and Orientation mean, staff responsibilities, and red flags.

Indicator (b) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center works with an pre-trial male and female population. The agency trains all staff on the different reactions to abuse male and female residents might display. After the academy, all staff are provided onsite refreshers in a classroom setting. Interview with staff support, they are aware of how male and female juveniles might react differently to abuse. They were aware of trauma, and its frequency in the population served at Wake Juvenile Detention Center. Staff knew that each person’s reaction to trauma was different but gave perceived reactions of female residents than male residents. No staff had transferred into the facility in the past year from a single-gender facility, and as noted, the annual training provided information about both genders' potential responses.

Indicator (c) The NCDPS Juvenile Justice employees receive classroom training on PREA while in the state’s NCDPS Training Academy, which covers the required 11 elements in indicator (a). Wake Juvenile Detention Center staff report ongoing training in a classroom setting and through the online learning platform. The Facility has staff who will complete training with all new employees if they do not go directly to the academy upon hire. Staff records reviewed and the random staff knowledge of the training information indicators support the fact that they receive training frequently. The Auditor also confirmed with one of the newest hires that they were educated on PREA before Counting on the shift.

Indicator (d) Employees have to take an exam for which they receive a certificate as well as sign an acknowledgment form for their Human Resources file. The Auditor also saw a training report used by facility administration to track employees' completion of annualized training. The PREA online 201 PREA refresher Course has an embedded test that staff must answer correctly to pass and get credit for the course. The course reviews different aspects of the standards, including state and federal laws, the role of the first responder, and disciplinary action for staff who engage in sexual misconduct, to name a few topics. Staff knew to go to the PREA Compliance Manager/ Director of WJDC if they were unclear on any of the information. The random staff were able to answer the auditor's questions, further supporting the fact that they have retained the information presented.

Compliance Determination

All staff are trained in NCDPS's zero-tolerance policies toward sexual assault and sexual harassment. The employees, contractors, and volunteers sign off, confirming they have been trained on PREA and understand policies. The facility provided the appropriate documentation to show all staff are educated on PREA annually through the 101 or 201 courses. The North Carolina Department of Public Safety has a training program for all staff related to the 11 requirements on indicator (a). New employees are first exposed to PREA training in the agency's Juvenile Justice Academy. Agency policy addresses the requirements of the standard, including the required areas of education found in indicator (a), the frequency of training, and gender-specific understanding of sexual victimization that is important for staff. All employees (including the contracted medical and mental health staff) have had on-site training and understand the facility's Sexual Assault Response plan. Staff are provided with visual documents posted in the facility, like the Daily Dozen and Red Flags, to reinforce the classroom experience. The new poster incorporates these items also.

All staff interviewed confirmed regular training on PREA. Random staff member interviews confirmed they were aware of the different aspects of the training presentations and were able to give examples of information provided. Staff responses support a clear education program where key elements have been reinforced, and training information is retained. Training records and staff interviews further support the fact that staff is regularly educated about PREA. The auditor confirmed the staff's training dates, including initial PREA training and the most recent PREA education. Compliance determination was based on random training records checked on-site matching the information in the OAS file, the material used in presentations, and random staff ability to share examples of the content they had learned as part of PREA training consistent with standard requirements.

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The Wake Juvenile Detention has three contractors with direct access to residents and no volunteers currently who have access to the juveniles. The facility reports they had only healthcare contractors. Religious services volunteers in the past year have been approved for contact with Juveniles but none are currently providing services. All contractors receive the same general PREA training that all individuals at Wake JDC receive. Volunteers, when allowed, are registered in the facility and those who have routine access to the facility are required to undergo an onsite education program on responsibilities and procedures for keeping a safe environment. The Agency Policy states for all new contractors or volunteers the following:

- “1. Volunteers (with the exception of one-time volunteers), custodial agents, contractors, and other persons providing services to residents shall receive the Sexual Abuse and Harassment 101 training and sign the PREA Acknowledgement Form (OPA-T10) as part of initial orientation.
2. One-time volunteers must review and sign the PREA Acknowledgement Form (OPA-T10) as part of their required overall training.
3. Sexual Abuse and Harassment 101 Training shall be offered by approved staff trainers certified as General Instructors unless an exception is given by the Director of Facility Operations, who may consult with the PREA Office”

As part of that program, the individuals are trained on PREA, which is consistent with the agency policy, which outlines training expectations to inform them how to support a zero-tolerance culture and know when and how to report concerns. They are provided a staff-directed training class by the PREA Compliance Manager and received a volunteer brochure that addresses expectations related to PREA. The policy also requires that volunteers be trained annually and sign annually that they understand PREA and their obligations. It states:

“Annual Training

1. Volunteers: At a minimum, all volunteers must review and sign a PREA Acknowledgement Form (OPA-T10) annually. The application process will not be complete until the PREA Acknowledgement Form is signed and returned to the center/location and available for examination during the peer review process, DPS/ Juvenile Justice audits, or federal audits.

2. Custodial Agents: Custodial Agents will receive PREA refresher training annually that will include the Sexual Abuse and Harassment 101 lesson plan.

3. Contract persons/agencies (who have direct contact with residents): Contracts should include language that reflects a commitment to zero tolerance of sexual abuse and sexual harassment and the contact person’s duty to report any allegations of resident sexual abuse or sexual harassment either by another resident or by staff. All contractor training shall be documented on the PREA Acknowledgement Form (OPA-T10). All contracts should reflect the contractor’s obligation to adopt and comply with PREA Standards.”

The contracted medical staff with access to residents confirmed they receive general PREA training in addition to the specialized training for healthcare staff. The Auditor reached out by phone to confirm with a volunteer about the training individuals coming to the facility receive.

Indicator (b) The training as noted in indicator (a), includes distinct levels of training that address how to report a PREA concern. Contracted staff providing direct services to residents undergo full DPS PREA training. Individual volunteers who would have routine visits would get the full training of PREA 101 with the facility's PREA Compliance Manager. The one-time visitor gets an abbreviated educational on PREA. All individuals entering the facility will have access to information on PREA and how to report a concern. The Auditor saw postings informing all visitors on PREA, the zero-tolerance stance of NCDJJD, and how to report a concern. Staff greeting the Auditor on day one confirmed the information on the postings are reported to families when they come for family visits. The Auditor signed in on document that briefly also explains PREA.

Indicator (c) PREA policy requires the facility PREA Compliance Manager to keep track of the training for all contractors or volunteers. The policy requires, “At a minimum, all volunteers must review and sign a PREA Acknowledgement Form (OPAT10). The application process will not be complete until the PREA

	Acknowledgement Form is signed and returned to the center/location. Forms shall be maintained at the center/location and be available for examination during the peer review process or DPS/Division audits individuals to sign for the information they receive.” The Auditor was provided records for volunteers and contractors, including the PREA acknowledgment form that they signed after completing the training course. Compliance Determination The Wake Juvenile Detention Center is compliant with the standard expectations. Wake JDC ensures all contractors and volunteers receive training in the agency’s efforts to prevent, detect, and respond to sexual assault and sexual harassment. Training records, interviews with contractors, support they have received comprehensive training equivalent to their level of contact with the residents on the ‘Zero Tolerance’ toward any sexual abuse or harassment of residents. Contracted staff confirm they receive required facility PREA training in addition to medical/ mental health-specific training. Compliance was determined through supporting documents and interviews with the contracted staff persons who were able to identify training elements. They could all explain how they could report a PREA concern at the facility if it arose.

Interview with Residents

Observation on the tour of PREA Signage in two languages

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) All Residents are provided information about PREA upon admission to Wake JDC. Agency policy addresses the requirement for PREA education upon admission. The Policy states, "All residents shall receive, during admission and upon transfer, information containing the agency's zero-tolerance policy regarding sexual abuse and sexual harassment, and how to report incidents or suspicions of sexual abuse and sexual harassment. Residents are provided a description of PREA and how to protect themselves, how to report a concern, and what services are available if someone has been a victim." They are provided this information in the form of the DJJ PREA Brochure, Information Cards, and postings in the facility. The information is in English and Spanish, the two most common languages in the facility. The Intake staff can use interpretive services if residents speak another language, but there have reportedly been no cases in the past year.. The NCDPS has begun to use information created in the form of videos created for juvenile facilities by the National PREA Resource Center alongside information they had previously used.

The auditor met with a trained intake staff member and reviewed the materials online. The Auditor was not able to observe an admission, so I considered staff description of the process versus the reported information from the residents. Residents were able to explain reporting information consistent with the video for making reports as described in the video for initial and comprehensive versions. The envelopes are available on each unit next to a mailbox already addressed for the resident to a variety of reporting options. The residents are also provided information on the right to contact the Local Rape Crisis Agency for support, even if their abuse happened at another point in their lives. The Auditor observed phone numbers on signage for the Rape Crisis agency and the Local Department of Social Services office (child Welfare agency). The residents do not dial the phone in a juvenile environment, but they confirmed they believe they can make calls with the social workers if more privacy is needed. Intake staff provides education interview support that they will spend time explaining to residents about PREA and will break down information into easy-to-understand discussion points. In the year before the audit, 212 individuals were reportedly admitted, and all individuals were reportedly provided PREA education. Residents confirmed getting PREA materials at intake. The educational material on PREA is presented in an age-appropriate manner, and there was additional colorful and easy-to-read information throughout the facility on PREA and sexual safety. As described in the video, the residents understood the options to report internally and to make an outside report. Residents also know they could ask family members to report on their behalf. The interviews with juveniles confirmed they retained and could provide information supporting the comprehension of the presented materials. The residents confirmed there are follow-up groups the first days after you arrive, where you watch a video about PREA, and staff provides further information and answers questions. The PREA Office 2023 changed the video used to one recommended on the PREA Resource Center website.

Indicator (b) All Wake Juvenile Detention Center residents are provided with a review of the facility-specific PREA information on the first day in the facility. The facility has a more comprehensive education after intake. The staff reports they routinely have comprehensive education within the first week the youth is at the facility. He reported no juveniles with hearing or sight issues have been admitted in the past year. There have been no LEP residents in the past year. Staff were aware about the translation services that could be used to aid in educating a juvenile about PREA. Juveniles interviewed were aware of their rights to be free from sexual abuse or harassment and that there is no retaliation against individuals who report a PREA incident. They knew that there was no sexual contact between residents and that there were consequences for staff or residents who violated this rule. Residents report that sexual abuse or sexual harassment is not a thing they see happening or worry much about. Residents interviewed stated a facility is a place where they feel safe from sexual harassment or sexual abuse. When asked how they would report, many stated they would go to a staff they trusted and believed staff would take it seriously and keep people safe. Residents most commonly stated they would tell their families about outside reporting. The residents knew what DSS was and that they reported abuse to them. Some residents reported they have DSS case workers. The residents did know there was a phone number for the local Rape Crisis Center, but not many could provide information on what services they might provide. The resident stated that emotional support counseling was available through the facility's mental health staff. They report that they can just tell staff, and the clinicians will come to see them or will call them if they are not on site. Policy language reviewed by the Auditor sets the requirement consistent with the standard. "All residents shall receive comprehensive age-appropriate education:

1. Regarding their rights to be free from sexual abuse and sexual harassment,
2. Their right to be free from retaliation for reporting such incidents, and
3. Regarding response procedures for sexual abuse, sexual harassment, and retaliation incidents.

Such education shall be completed within 10 days of admission." The OAS supports 100% of the residents who receive all the required information in the first 10 days.

Indicator (c) All Wake Juvenile Detention Center residents have received an education in PREA. The Auditor also spoke to residents and reviewed case files to confirm education dates against the provided documentation. The PREA Compliance Manager confirmed that there is no difference in how education materials are presented for a first-time JDC resident or one with prior admissions. The process for reporting a concern is uniform across the system of juvenile justice facilities the Auditor has visited. In doing so, the youth are very familiar with options for reporting a concern if it were to arise.

Indicator (d) Agency Policy speaks to ensuring LEP and disabled individuals have full access to services. "Appropriate provisions shall be made as necessary for residents not fluent in English, persons with disabilities, and those with low literacy levels." Education is available in multiple languages and can be made into large print documents for visual challenges. Wake Juvenile Detention Center had no residents who could not speak English at the time of the onsite visit. No LEP residents were reported in the past year. Language line services are available as noted in standard 115.316. The Auditor confirmed the number for the interpretive services was active. Staff reported that they knew where to obtain the information to make interpretive calls. Residents support they can go to staff if they need assistance in comprehension of written or oral PREA education. The facility has a full school environment so individuals with comprehension issues will be identified. The assistance is available to any individual who needs it, including those with hearing or vision issues as well as those with physical disabilities, cognitive limitations, or those who cannot read. The Auditor did see postings at Wake JDC in both English and Spanish, the two most spoken languages at the facility. The Auditor reviewed the PREA Videos, which are available in Spanish, with subtitles and an ASL interpreter.

As noted before, the facility has teachers who will identify "exceptional Juveniles" who include individuals in these populations and ensure supports are in place to allow them to fully participate in all programming and supports offered by the facility, including the Zero Tolerance program toward sexual abuse and sexual harassment. The form residents sign confirming they were educated on PREA is also available in Spanish.

Indicator (e) Records were reviewed for a random sampling of current clients along with previously discharged youth from the past year's admissions. The documentation reviewed confirmed the facility tracks the education of residents. The Auditor observed new PREA education confirmation posters in both English and Spanish. Signage was at appropriate sight levels. Residents were able to explain the information they learned in their own words.

Indicator (f) Observations throughout the tour support the fact that there are continuous materials available to residents. The information viewed included an admission packet, posters, and other signage about PREA or resources such as the local rape crisis agency. The residents support they know how to access information on PREA and confirmed they received the information at intake. Appropriate provisions shall be made as necessary for residents not fluent in English, persons with disabilities, and those with low literacy levels. There were numerous PREA-related signs in each housing unit, the visiting area, and the public lobby space. Staff knew there was information, including checklist, on how to respond to a PREA incident in the Shift Supervisors Office.

Compliance Determination

The North Carolina Department of Juvenile Justice’s PREA policy sets forth the expectation of the timeliness of resident education, how education is delivered, and the requirement for materials for LEP and disabled residents’ education. Residents at Wake JDC confirm they are educated on PREA and the zero-tolerance expectations as soon as they get to the facility. The facility reviews information with the residents on the zero-tolerance expectation toward sexual abuse, how to keep oneself safe, and how to report a concern. Residents confirmed they were provided such information. The resident signs the information reviewed and places it in their case record. The facility has PREA educational materials available to residents in the form of brochures, Respect cards, and posters. Information in the written document seen on the tour includes phone numbers for the state PREA Coordinator, how to report to an outside agency (Department of Social Services), and the local rape crisis agency. Compliance determination considered the supporting educational documents, the residents’ answers about education, and their knowledge about facility-specific steps for reporting a concern. Further supporting compliance is the Auditor's review of resident records that showed timely education and the materials viewed during the tours.

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The North Carolina Department of Public Safety includes the state's law enforcement agency. The Department of Public Safety has local law enforcement agencies complete criminal investigations at its state juvenile facilities. Agency PREA Policy 300 defines the required training of a PREA administrative Investigator. "A DPS employee who has been assigned or designated to administratively investigate a report of alleged offender, resident, or safekeeper sexual abuse and/or sexual harassment and has received specialized training in conducting such investigations in confinement settings." Wake Juvenile Detention Center's Director is the only currently trained Investigator at the facility. The Auditor used additional information from a trained individual from the Office of Special Investigations, which is the DPS unit that would review allegations against staff. The North Carolina Department of Public Safety was able to train a cadre of staff members on how to complete sexual assault investigations. The agency has sufficient staff to ensure each facility has sufficiently trained investigative staff. The Agency can provide an investigator from another facility if it is believed that it is more appropriate to have a DJJ employee not associated with the facility complete the administrative investigation.

Indicator (b) The Auditor reviewed the training outline developed by the North Carolina Department of Public Safety to ensure the content was consistent with the topics required by the standard. The training outline was 57 pages long. The materials reviewed and the interview with a trained investigator confirmed the training covered how to communicate with a victim of sexual assault, the use of Miranda and Garrity Warnings, proper steps in the collection and preservation of evidence and the factors in making a determination of substantiation for administrative action or prosecutorial referral. The curriculum document reviewed by the Auditor listed the Learning Objective of the training as follows:

1. Identify the "Prison Rape Elimination Act (PREA) of 2003" and the National Standards
2. Identify North Carolina sexual offense statutes.
3. Identify Division Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policies.
4. Define Investigative Warnings.
5. Define Interviewing.
6. Identify the characteristics of a good interviewer.
7. Define the rules of successful Interviewing.
8. Define the Skill Learning Cycle.
9. Identify verbal behaviors of untruthfulness.
10. Identify the five basic types of lies.
11. Define a report and its purpose.
12. Identify responsibilities of the investigating officer in sexual abuse and harassment incidents.
13. Define Incident Scene and Evidence Processing.
14. Identify the role of the PREA Support Person.
15. Demonstrate how to conduct and document a proper investigation.
16. Demonstrate an understanding of preparing the investigating officer's comments.
17. Define Investigation timeframes.
18. Identify the role of Department employees in Criminal Prosecutions.
19. Identify the applicability of the North Carolina Division of Adult Correction (Prisons & Community Corrections) and the Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Policy and Procedures.

In the section on Investigative warnings, the training materials review the use of Miranda and Garrity warnings but they are not authorized to offer those as an administrative investigator. The OSI investigator with whom I spoke was able to relate the information they received in the training and how they have used such information in their investigations in the past. The Wake Director has not had to complete a PREA investigation in the past three years.

They also discusses how they would maintain communication with the criminal investigators to ensure their efforts did not impede the criminal investigation. Summary Determination Indicator (a) the Wake Juvenile Detention Center has both medical and Mental Health staff. The agency trains staff on PREA-specific considerations from the medical and mental health provided perspective. The training materials and the staff interviewed included information that the training addressed signs and symptoms of abuse, communication with a victim, how to report an allegation, and how to preserve evidence. Nursing staff were aware that they should not clean any injuries and only treat critical health concerns before transport to the local hospital for a rape kit. Mental Health staff were also prepared to work with individuals who are victims of sexual abuse. The Agency PREA policy (pages 7-8) defines the topics to be covered in specialized training for medical and mental health staff.

“All medical care providers who work regularly in centers will be trained on:

1. How to prevent, detect and assess signs of sexual abuse and sexual harassment;
2. How to preserve physical evidence of sexual abuse;
3. How to respond effectively and professionally to juvenile victims of sexual abuse and sexual harassment; and
4. Reporting procedures for allegations or suspicions of sexual abuse and sexual harassment.

Training will be documented on the PREA Medical/Mental Health Training Acknowledgement (OPA-T330).

B. All mental health care providers who work regularly in centers will be trained on:

1. How to detect and assess signs of sexual abuse and sexual harassment;
2. How to preserve physical evidence of sexual abuse;
3. The short- and long-term consequences of sexual trauma on juveniles;
4. How to respond effectively and professionally to juvenile victims of sexual abuse and sexual harassment; and
5. Reporting procedures for allegations or suspicions of sexual abuse and sexual harassment.

Training will be documented using the PREA Medical/Mental Health Training Acknowledgement (OPA-T330)”

The individuals interviewed confirmed that the training covered signs of abuse, how to speak to individuals who had recently undergone trauma, and who in the facility must be notified if a juvenile reports sexual abuse. The Mental health person knew the importance of protecting evidence, including encouraging the victim not to do anything that may destroy evidence. The Nurse was aware that she may need to treat wounds (stop bleeding) but that she should not clean the wounds as there may be evidence.

Indicator (b) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center medical staff does not complete a forensic exam. All resident victims will be sent to the local hospital to have an exam completed by a Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner; both individuals knew this expectation.

Indicator (c) Documentation was provided to the Auditor for all medical and mental health staff confirming the specialized training was completed. Formal interviews with individuals from these groups and discussions on the facility tour further support all individuals who have received specialized training on working with victims of sexual assault. Both medical and mental health individuals interviewed understood the importance of protecting evidence and their role in supporting the youth after they return from a forensic examination.

Indicator (d) A review of the training records and the interview with staff confirms that all medical and mental health staff receive the same training as the DJJDP employees annually as well as the training described in 115.31 and 115.32.

Compliance Determination

NCDPS provides PREA training with a medical and mental health focus for their employees and contractors' health care providers. The curriculum reviewed by this Auditor addressed how to detect, assess signs, and preserve evidence of a sexual assault. The training materials and interviewed staff support they were trained in how to respond appropriately to sexual assault victims. The Auditor met formally with medical and mental health staff who knew whom to report allegations and suspicions of sexual abuse or sexual harassment. The staff reported they attended PREA classes from North Carolina DJJDP, which all employees take on PREA. Medical staff will not do forensic medical examinations but are aware of how to protect evidence and what facilities they would refer residents to for an exam by a SAFE or SANE if needed. The Auditor also reviewed the NCDPS PREA Policy to determine compliance along with interviews, training program materials, and training records for the staff figured into the compliance determination.

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) Juvenile Justice Facilities Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy and Procedures (pages 9-10) that all individuals admitted or transferred be screened for likelihood to be a victim of sexual violence or probability of being a perpetrator of the same said violence. The Policy defines the positions trained to administer the screening tool. The Policy states, "All residents shall receive the PREA Admission and Placement Screening (Form YD 011) within 72 hours of arrival at the center and periodically (e.g., housing assignment change, change in vulnerability or aggression, etc.) throughout a resident's confinement." As a Juvenile Detention Center, admissions are unplanned, so the practice was that the Human Service

Coordinator would see them the same day or the next. The individual responsible was on military leave, and another staff assigned was completing them in addition to their regular duties. The Auditor's review of 21 files on site found that one-third were complete outside the 72-hour window, usually within 4 to 6 days of admission. All residents are reassessed if any additional information is learned, adjustments to scoring are made, and client needs are met. Staff confirmed residents might also be rescreened for cause. The review of the screening reports supports the standard practice of screening and reassessment of individuals. This was verified in the review of an active population, which included samples from multiple individuals in the facility. The facility reported that all 212 admissions in the previous year had a PREA screening completed. Juvenile interviews and file reviews confirmed that questions were asked of them during the intake process, which was consistent with the screening elements. The Auditor was walked through the process of where they get information, (direct interview with the juvenile, arrest documents, prior records with NCDJJ, families, etc.). The staff member reported that they would reframe questions if they did not believe the juvenile understood what was being asked. They also reportedly reassure the juvenile that they do not have to answer questions about sexuality or past victimization history if they are not comfortable. Sensitive information is shared only with the medical staff, who can notify the mental health team of any concerns. The staff person asks questions about reading and sensitive questions in an area of the facility away from other juveniles. Because of the timeliness of the initial screening, the facility Director and the NCDJDP PREA Office developed a plan to expand the number of individuals trained to ensure that all screenings occur in under 72 hours. The facility will demonstrate over the three months following the site visit that they have institutionalized a practice. The solution will also ensure even after the Human Services Coordinator returns, supports will be in place to ensure timely screening during vacations and unforeseen absences. Documentation was provided throughout the corrective action period supporting the screening that occurred before 72 hours. All residents are housed in single cell rooms on one of two units.

Indicator (b) The tool developed by the North Carolina Department of Public Safety for screening residents for potential sexual violence or sexual victimization is an objective tool utilizing information from the resident's criminal records, information from other treatment and justice settings, and the client's self-reported information. The Auditor was provided with the materials for administering and scoring the tool to ensure that the application was objective. The auditor spoke with an individual who completed the screening to verify the process. The tool scores all residents on levels of risk for the perpetration of sexual violence or sexual vulnerability. Screenings are completed at Wake Juvenile Detention Center by the facility's trained caseworker, but to ensure timing, the facility has added other line staff during the audit. The individual completing the scoring takes information from three sources: interviews with the resident, observations made during the screening, and information from other instruments or historical documents in the client's records. The scorer answers yes, no, or unknown to each section question. The number of yes answers will determine the juvenile's score. The four-page document on how to administer and score the screening tool shows how other sources of information are also used to develop the tool. The document shows the results from the structured Suicide Screening and the MAYSI-2 results, which are used in conjunction with the question on the PREA Screening tool to determine the final rating a juvenile gets. The use of the court records and the juvenile's history in NC-Join are also explained in the document.

Indicator (c) The Agency PREA Policy describes the various elements required in the indicator. "This screening shall include a review of any history of sexual abuse-victimization or sexually abusive behavior, any gender non-conforming appearance, identification as LGBTI, current charges and offense history, age, level of emotional and cognitive development, physical size and stature, mental illness or disabilities, intellectual or developmental disabilities, physical disabilities, or any other specific information about individual residents that may indicate heightened needs for supervision, additional safety precautions, or separation from certain other residents, and the resident's own perception of vulnerability."

A review of the objective tool used in North Carolina DPS facilities shows that it accounts for all 11 elements required in this indicator. In completing the tool, the staff person reviews documentation provided at intake and obtains information from the client. Wake Juvenile Detention Center's trained staff completes intake screening. The medical and mental health staff will also review their screenings for consistency, including some PREA-related questions. Medical staff will work with the mental health clinicians to ensure that any medical issue or disclosure by the youth to medical staff that would affect the scoring tool is provided. The residents confirmed they were asked about their sexuality, their past victimization history, and if they felt if they were going to be safe. The tool also looks at their past charges and detention history. The JDC uses scoring from other normed screening tools, the MAYSI or Suicidal screening tools, to help determine emotional and cognitive development and the juvenile history of trauma. The staff member also assesses age and size compared to the existing population. Residents spoke of different people in the environment with whom they might be comfortable speaking if they had concerns at Wake JDC.

Indicator (d) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center uses regular treatment meetings once a client is admitted to assess the client's needs and interactions continually. The clinical team is critical to ensuring that information from those who interact with the youth in various settings in the facility administration, custody, medical, mental health, and education is shared. It is through this process that initial assessment information is reviewed, and if additional information comes to light in medical, mental health, or educational assessments or records review, the scoring can be adjusted appropriately. The education staff can also help identify cognitive concerns or language barriers. Both the Medical staff and the mental health staff confirmed they are aware of the PREA Screening and will communicate if additional information about the client's past could affect their scoring. Similarly, random custody staff offered they would go to the PCM, mental health, or medical if they had a concern about a juvenile's change in behaviors. As noted in the previous indicator, the intake staff use various sources to complete the screening instrument, including direct interviews with the client, information from NCDJJ and Juvenile court, and Medical and mental health providers. The Tool includes supportive language the staff are to use before asking them questions. "I am going to ask you a few questions that we ask everyone. Some of them may be personal, but our goal is to understand you and ensure you are safe here and treated fairly. Asking you about yourself is the best way for us to make sure that we understand who you are and how you would like to be treated. If you don't understand a question, we can talk about it before you answer. If you don't want to answer a question, that's ok. We'll just move on to the next one. If you want to talk about any questions at a later time, staff and clinicians are available to listen." Juveniles in JDCs are provided with a clinical assessment and plan, which may include special needs plans that help staff identify those with special needs or strategies to support the resident.

Indicator (e). The North Carolina Department of Public Safety completes the screening information on paper, and the score is uploaded to the electronic case management system (NC-Join). Disclosures made in the medical or mental health records are completely siloed from the custody staff in the medical records. Staff are only provided enough information as necessary to keep them safe. Information on an individual's past abuse, from records to treatment disclosures, would not be available to custody staff. The residents' support information is kept confidential unless someone gets hurt. The nurse's office has locked cabinets with client records where the PREA paper tool is stored, and the facility further limits who has access to these files. Residents were aware from their education that outside support resources are available, but they reported comfort in speaking with the facility's clinical staff.

Compliance Determination

The Wake Juvenile Detention Center ensures all residents are screened for sexual victimization and abusiveness using an objective tool. Agency policy requires that all residents be screened initially within 72 hours, and all juveniles are seen again by mental health in the first week in the facility. The Agency also requires rescreening using the PREA assessment instrument every six months the juvenile is in the facility. This is also done when warranted due to a referral, request, incident of sexual misconduct, or receipt of additional information that bears on the juvenile's risk of sexual vulnerability or sexual violence. The North Carolina healthcare record system protects residents' sensitive information from disclosure. The objective tool screening tool of North Carolina NCDJDP has clear guidelines for its use. The tool accounts for all factors required in indicators (c). They have also

	implemented a system to ensure that after the initial screening, the residents are asked about sexuality, victimization history, and perceived safety. Team members were aware of resident screening and the importance of using the information. Medical staff will also ask PREA related information at the initial assessment and pass any new information back to the intake staff to ensure the screening encompasses all information obtained at intake. Though many of the aspects and requirements of the standard are being met routinely, the Auditor found that the screening was not happening in a timely fashion. A plan was immediately implemented to resolve the screening timeliness by training more staff to complete the PREA Screening tool. During the week after the on-site visit, a pool of additional staff received training on completing the screening tool. The Auditor requested a sample of additional screenings to be uploaded monthly for three months to prove compliance. The Auditor has spoken with the Director and the PREA Coordinator during the Corrective action period for updates. The Director has uploaded requested examples to prove the screenings are being done on time, along with the training documentation to support newly trained staff's understanding of the screening process and the use of the information. The documentation supported the corrective measures put in place, which have taken hold, and the screenings are completed within the first 72 hours.

Indicator (a) Juvenile Justice Facilities Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy and Procedures (page 10) states, "Center management shall use information obtained to make housing, bed, program, education, and work assignments for residents with the goal of keeping all residents safe and free from sexual abuse.". The PREA screen used at WAKE JDC provides immediate assistance in determining the appropriate housing for any new resident. The facility ensures those with a high score for the perpetration of sexual violence are placed near an individual with a known victim history. All cells in the facility are singles. The two-unit setup of Wake Juvenile Detention means they have to assess the best placement for those with sexually aggressive scoring, keeping them away from those who may have victim histories. The facility's two units allow for some separation with a male unit and co-ed unit. Residents generally have limited contact with youth from other units. Residents go to education and programming with youth from their own unit, and each unit has its own recreation space. The facility does not have any work assignments for juveniles. Juveniles are not allowed to have any contact with each other except during sports. The Auditor saw the population move in separate groups during the time on site, which was consistent with the descriptions provided by the administration.

Individuals with victimization history or perpetrating histories are provided counseling onsite by Mental Health staff or through the local rape crisis agency if requested. Agency policy requires all residents to be under the direct supervision of staff when out of their bedrooms. This allows for staff to easily identify changes in behaviors or routines, individuals who may be isolating, and individuals who may be grooming or showing aggression. The Shift Supervisor described to me how each individual is screened before assigning a room or putting them in a particular group or seat assignment. At Wake JDC, youth go to school with the same youth that they would do other programming or recreation with. Staff and residents confirmed that juveniles are always supervised. The PREA Compliance Manager confirms that staff is provided enough information to keep the client safe. The Auditor was able to observe staff interactions with the juveniles on the floor. Staff communicated with residents directly and kept the population in front of them to ensure good visual supervision. The out-of-room area on housing units is wide open, allowing staff to see clearly across the unit without obstructions. There is staff office on the units that allows other staff present on the shift to see and hear residents and staff interaction and to provide support when needed. There are large windows from the Supervisor's office into the unit if a situation occurs. The facility does not use isolation to protect a victim from an aggressor.

Indicator (b) Wake Juvenile Detention Center has not isolated any residents in the past 3 years to keep them safe from sexual assault. The Wake JDC was not designed with disciplinary holding units or special management units. The facility uses an extra observation status to support juveniles after aggressive acts transition back to normal interactions with peers. NCDPS policy does not prohibit resident isolation but states it should only be used as a last resort to maintain safety. Policy states, "Residents may be isolated from others only as a last resort when less restrictive measures are inadequate to keep them and other residents safe, and then only when alternative means of keeping residents safe cannot be arranged. Any resident isolated for the purpose of sexual abuse prevention will receive daily visits from medical or mental health staff, have access to required educational programming, and have access to other programs to the extent possible." The facility Director confirmed that they would not use isolation of an individual to protect from potential sexual assault. It would be more likely that the potential aggressor would be removed to this area or if needed the regional management team would discuss the possibility of moving a resident to alleviate the situation. Staff and administration support there are no instances where juveniles were isolated to keep them safe from the sexual advances of others.

Indicator (c) NCDJJ has two policies that speak to this indicator. The PREA policy states, "In deciding whether to assign a transgender or intersex resident to a center for male or female residents and in making other housing and programming assignments, the division shall consider on a case-by-case basis whether a placement would ensure the resident's health and safety and whether the placement would present management or security problems." The Agency's LGBTI policy states, "how to develop trust and rapport with the juveniles and accommodate their needs within reason. LGBTQI and GNC youth shall not collectively be placed in one location and shall not be placed in particular housing, bed, or other assignments solely on the basis of such identification or status. The Department shall assess the health and safety needs and risks of each juvenile and place them appropriately. LGBTQI youth shall be provided access to all spaces ordinarily accessible to other youth, including restrooms unless the youth asserts a safety concern regarding use of a particular space. REFERENCE: 28 C.F.R. §§ 115.331(a)(9); 115.341-342. B. Staff shall not consider LGBTQI and GNC identification or status as an indicator of likelihood of being sexually abusive. LGBTQI and GNC youth shall not be placed in sex offender treatment programs solely because of their SOGIE.”

The Auditor confirmed through a review of population records and interviews with random staff and residents that there is no practice of housing LGBTI residents in any particular unit, because of the perception of vulnerability or aggressiveness based on gender identity. There were no LGBTI juveniles in the facility to interview about their perceptions. All residents are in single rooms that include a toilet. Each room has a privacy magnet that can be used when the resident uses the bathroom or gets changed. Staff knew that Transgender and Intersex residents' own identification would be used to determine which room they are assigned in the population. The staff knew that an individual's identification in itself is not an indicator of them being sexually aggressive but did confirm they know from the training that the population is at a greater risk of being targets of peer aggression.

Indicator (d) The North Carolina Department of Public Safety clearly states that the Transgender and Intersex resident housing will be made on a case-by-case basis. Transgender or intersex residents' housing decisions shall be made on a case-by-case basis, taking into account the resident's views, and shall be based on protecting the resident's safety and mental health and preventing security issues. Wake JDC is a male for adjudicated juveniles. The agency's upper management team would make a decision on what JDC a transgender resident would be housed at. The North Carolina Department of Public Safety has instituted SOGIE (Sexual Orientation, Gender Identity, and Gender Expression) questions for all residents, which further helps in the identification of LGBTQI youth. Pertinent safety concerns for transgender or intersex residents can be communicated to line staff through safety plans, which are also used for medical or mental health information that line staff needs to be aware of. As noted, there were no transgender residents with whom the Auditor could interview and no recent cases to review records of.

The PREA Compliance Manager confirmed they would notify the DJJDP PREA Office and the Director of Facility Operations on any admission of a transgender individual. The agency can move residents between facilities if needed. The resident's Identification will also be a part of the discussions when the child is adjudicated to a youth development center. The LGBTI Policy defines how a committee of agency leadership will meet to discuss the most appropriate setting to house the juvenile. “Juveniles who self-identify as transgender or intersex shall be placed in a location that is consistent with their view of their own safety, absent a safety-based objection by the staff made in consultation with the Director of Facility Operations and the Director of Behavioral Health. Such safety-based objection by staff shall have a specific, documented, credible basis that weighs the safety risks and benefits to the juvenile and shall not be solely based on the stated gender identity. If the juvenile is not currently at a location compatible with their stated gender identity and/or stated housing preference, they will be moved to a location consistent with their stated gender identity and/or housing preference at the most reasonable time; again, in consultation with the Director of Facility Operations and the Director of Behavioral Health, and a safety plan shall be considered until such a move is possible. All placements of a transgender or intersex youth shall be done in consultation with the Director of Facility Operations and the Director of Behavioral Health.” The Policy goes on to address the expected actions at the facility level. “Juvenile Detention Center staff will notify the Director of Facility Operations or his or her designee upon a juvenile’s self-identification as transgender or intersex to initiate the process of assessment and housing planning. Housing decisions will be made by a multi-disciplinary team including but not limited to the Director of Facility Operations or his or her designee and representatives from clinical and medical sections. Each juvenile shall be assessed and assigned housing on an individual basis in consideration of their individual needs.”

Indicator (e) Juvenile Justice LGBTI Policy and Procedures state housing and program assignments for a transgender or intersex resident shall be regularly throughout the juvenile’s stay. The Policy states, “Placement decisions and general adjustment concerns for juveniles shall be re-assessed at the weekly treatment team meeting to review any threats to safety experienced by the juvenile. Juveniles shall be re-assessed 14 days after admission by a licensed mental health clinician to ensure appropriate adjustment, to evaluate the risk of victimization, and to provide the juvenile the opportunity to clarify any information shared upon intake and share their own assessment of their current placement. All changes in placements of a transgender or intersex youth shall be done in consultation with the Director of Facility Operations and the Director of Behavioral Health. Complaints from youth against other youth based solely on a youth’s actual or perceived SOGIE shall not be considered valid.”

The facility has not had a transgender individual in the past year. Discussions with the PCM and the Director confirm the steps that would be taken to ensure the client’s safety and comfort. The medical and mental health staff also believe they would be part of any planning meeting for transgender admissions. As an adjudicated facility, residents remain in the facility for a 10-month period on average. The facility leadership knew that if a resident stayed six months, a meeting should be held with the Transgender or intersex residents to review their progress, needs, and accommodations. No transgender or intersex residents were admitted in the past year to Wake JDC.

Indicator (f) NCDPS policy states in the case of a transgender or intersex resident, the decision about housing shall be made on a case-by-case basis, taking into account the views of the resident. There were no current transgender juveniles in the facility. Transgender individuals, like other residents, have access to weekly treatment meetings in addition to a two-time-a-year accommodation meeting. The Agency will also have meetings to review each case and ensure they are available in the most appropriate environment. Mental Health and PCM all confirm regular communication on a transgender youth would occur frequently.

Indicator (g) NCDPS PREA policy requires “Transgender and intersex residents will be given the opportunity to shower separately from other residents.” Wake Juvenile Detention Center residents all have access to individualized showers. All juveniles reportedly shower while other residents are in the rooms. The units have single-person showers that only allow for one person to shower at a time.

Indicator (h) Wake Juvenile Detention Center has not isolated any residents.

Indicator (i) Wake Juvenile Detention Center has not isolated any residents. NCDPS policy addresses isolation if it occurs, including a review at a minimum of every 30 days.

Compliance Determination

As discussed, the North Carolina Department of Public Safety has policies that describe the requirements of the various indicators in this standard. The facility has in place a plan to manage the population and keep potential or known aggressors away from individuals who are known potential or known victims. All residents are asked how they feel about their safety, which helps guide the placement process for housing and, eventually, programming. Wake JDC currently has no transgender residents. Policy language in place supports their understanding of the steps needed to protect the rights of all LGBTI residents. During the tour and subsequent movement, the Auditor was able to see how transgender residents would have privacy during shower or bathroom use. Documentation supports that LGBTI residents are not all housed in a separate unit from the general population or denied programming. There is no legal judgment requiring such a condition to exist. Line staff also understand the need to protect potential victims from potential aggressors. Discussions during their informal and formal interviews support staff support; they get to know the residents and observe and address any negative or change in behaviors. Facility leadership reports that known aggressors and known victims would not be housed in the same unit and that they move by the unit in school and for most programming. Unit staff have access to safety plans that can provide pertinent information without disclosing sensitive information.

The standard is determined to be compliant based on policy, supporting documents, and interviews with residents and staff. Interviews with facility and state leadership

	support LGBTI youth are closely monitored, and plans are made on a case-by-case basis. The Auditor finds that practices are in place to use screening information, and there is good communication about those at risk. Absent a current transgender individual, the Auditor relied on existing file documentation and staff reports to help in the compliance determination.

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The agency PREA policy (page 14) covers reporting and ensures each facility administrator has multiple ways for residents to report a concern related to sexual abuse, sexual harassment, retaliation, or staff neglect that contributed to abuse. The Policy states, " A resident may report sexual abuse to any employee. An employee who receives an allegation of sexual abuse or possible sexual abuse from any source, whether verbally or in writing, shall immediately notify the senior person in charge on campus, complete a written statement for an incident report, and initiate a Sexual Abuse Incident Response Checklist. The senior person-in-charge on campus shall ensure that the incident report is completed through the Tracking and Reporting of Incidents (TROI) system." The Auditor reviewed the intake packet and all signage in the facility related to PREA and how to report a concern. The Auditor was able to see postings throughout the facility. The information was available at the appropriate reading level for the population served. The teacher spoke with reports they can provide direct assistance once they identify the child with reading or language barriers. In addition to the signage on reporting, the Auditor found the Audit notices posted in common space available to residents, staff, and visitors.

Random residents' interviews confirmed that they know there are multiple ways to report a concern within the facility or to the Department of Juvenile Justice's central office. Residents knew of the postings on the walls of the units and information on how to report a concern in the PREA Brochure for residents. Residents described options to report a concern, including directly to a staff they trust to, a teacher, or medical or mental health staff, by writing the Facility Director or others and placing it in the black box. It should be noted that residents supported the comfort of contacting line staff to report concerns. The facility also provides pre-addressed envelopes for mailing internal or external agencies about PREA concerns that the residents pointed out to the auditor in our discussions. Residents report they can have access to a pencil to write a letter to any other individuals listed on the mailboxes. The envelopes are pre-addressed and have a form inside to use to write on if they want to report a concern or make a request. Envelopes include the Director, the PREA Office, the Deputy Director of Juvenile Justice, and the local DSS office.

Residents can also make calls, including to the PREA Office. The PREA Coordinator confirmed no claims were filed through the PREA Hotline for Wake JDC or by mail. Residents understood the meaning of zero tolerance and that in addition to sexual abuse or harassment, they could also report retaliation if they filed a claim. No resident in the current population expressed in the interviews that they had reported a concern related to sexual abuse or sexual harassment. The residents spoken with did feel if something was happening and they went to staff, they would be protected.

Indicator (b) The North Carolina Department of Public Safety has set up a way in which residents can report a PREA concern to an outside agency. The phone numbers for the local DSS are on the PREA poster, and the residents have pre-addressed envelopes to DSS in each housing unit. Residents were aware of these options and stated they could also call attorneys or family members to report a concern. Wake JDC does not house juveniles for civil immigration violations. Residents also understood the complaint could be made anonymously or they could report on behalf of another juvenile if they were too afraid. The auditor had a juvenile explain to me that the black box and mail process were consistent with what was explained on the tour. The Juvenile reported that they can ask for writing implements and use the envelopes to request to speak with the Director or other individuals inside or outside the building. The resident believes only the Center Supervisor or the Director can open the box. The Director reports that information from the box is kept confidential, and if there was a PREA-related allegation, it would become part of the investigative file, which would be limited to him and another trained investigator in the facility. The Auditor reached out and spoke with the local Department of Social Services, who confirmed that they could receive calls related to juvenile maltreatment at a detention center, including sexual misconduct. All phone calls are required to be dialed by staff to ensure they are only communicating with approved individuals. The NCDJJ detention policy directs staff not to listen in on the specific conversations of juveniles. "A staff member shall place all calls for the juvenile and supervise, but not monitor, conversations." Residents confirmed that staff will give them privacy when on these calls. They also confirm that they can make more private calls with their case worker or therapist. The Auditor witnessed phone calls were made privately in the dining room space away from peers. The juveniles did report that confidential communication with families at visitation is minimal due to the small size of the visiting area at Wake JDC.

Indicator (c) NCDPS policy addresses the indicator when it states, "Any employee who receives an allegation or has knowledge of sexual abuse or possible sexual abuse or harassment and fails to report the allegation as provided in this policy or DJJDP 6, Reporting Abuse and/or Neglect, or fails to initiate a Sexual Abuse Incident Response Checklist, will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal. The staff has a duty to report any allegation that residents are having sexual relationships with other residents or with staff, as well as a duty to initiate the PREA Sexual Abuse Incident Response Checklist (Form YD 001)." Random staff knew they had to report the claim no matter the source of information, including anonymous notes. The staff reported that any claim, even if they thought it did not occur, it needs to be reported. The staff also confirmed that they were required to file a written report on the claim after giving notice to a supervisor. Finally, the staff also confirmed they had to report the actions or failure to act of a fellow employee that led to a sexual assault. Staff reported verbal notification to a supervisor was required as soon as possible and that an incident report must be filed before the end of the shift. The random staff statements were consistent with the language in DJJDP policy and this standard indicator. The Auditor also tested that the outside reporting number was consistent with the local DSS reporting. I also sent an email to the state-posted number and received confirmation from the PREA Office of DJJ.

Indicator (d) The Auditor confirmed with residents how they could file a written complaint on PREA through the grievance system or in-house mail to a staff member they trust. The residents also were aware they could write to outside agencies, and most understood the meaning of privileged correspondence. As noted above, the Auditor saw the mailbox system on the housing unit which is used to send internal or external mail. Below the black box were pre-labeled envelopes to internal and external reporting options, including the Director, the State PREA Coordinator, and the Local DSS office. Wake JDC PREA Compliance Manager also confirmed how a client reports a concern and how the administration will be notified of any claims. Residents report they can ask for a pencil to write letters and that they can put the envelope in the Black box. The Auditor confirmed that this was explained to them on the first day. The Detention Services Policy reviewed by the Auditor also confirms the juvenile right to contact outside government officials and Approved Juvenile Contact under the telephone and mail correspondence section. The Policy states, "Juveniles shall be permitted to send mail directly to, or receive mail from, the following individuals at all times:

- a) the Governor of North Carolina;
- b) any federal and state court officials;
- c) any members of the North Carolina General Assembly;
- d) the juvenile's attorney;
- e) Court Counselors; and
- f) Any DPS/Juvenile Justice Department Officials.

NOTE: Juveniles shall be assisted by staff in writing or reading written correspondence, upon request."

The Facility Director confirmed that Rape Crisis Centers would be treated the same under this policy.

Indicator (e) The staff of Wake Juvenile Detention Center has multiple options to report a concern of sexual assault or sexual harassment. Beyond reporting an incident to their immediate supervisor, if the staff had a concern about the supervisor or another staff being involved with a client, they would report to another supervisor or to a higher-ranking individual. They can make a report using either the posted phone numbers, the North Carolina DJJDP PREA office, or DSS. Staff interviews confirmed they were aware of multiple avenues to report a concern. The staff knew they could report out of the chain of command without consequences.

The Auditor was also provided a PREA informational brochure that describes how staff and volunteers can report a concern. Staff interviews support that the PREA training provided instructs them that they can use any of the same ways a juvenile could internally or externally the agency. Internally, they knew they could go to the Director or the Regional Director in addition to using the hotlines. They reported they could notify DSS or the local police if they believed a staff person was engaged in sexual misconduct with a juvenile. In addition to PREA training staff on how to report it concerns is also covered in NCDPS New Employee Orientation reportedly.

Compliance Determination

North Carolina Department of Public Safety and WAKE JDC Juvenile Justice facility's Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy and Procedures outlines the requirements of this standard. The facility's admission packet provides information on how to report a concern, and posters throughout the facility all give direction on the importance and methods of reporting sexual abuse and sexual harassment. The signage was in English and Spanish, the most common languages spoken by the families of the juveniles. Interviews with staff were consistent in their understanding of their duties of accepting and responding to all reports of sexual assault or sexual harassment, whether it was done verbally, in writing, anonymously, or by a third party. Staff were aware that failure to report an incident is grounds for termination, and the law considers them mandated reporters, which requires notification to DSS. Residents interviewed were aware of multiple ways in which they could report, including telling staff, calling the hotline to one of two numbers, mail administration, or the Department of Social Services, completing a grievance form, or calling or writing the local rape crisis agency. Residents spoken to formally and on tour reported comfort in speaking with staff, including the unit staff, if they had concerns. Custody staff reported knowing how to privately report PREA concerns to the administration and that there is no problem reporting out of the chain of command. The Auditor tested the critical reporting functions and found that the numbers listed were accurate and the systems in place to receive third-party allegations were operational. The Auditor finds compliance with standard provisions based on the policy, documentation provided and viewed on the tour, and the testing of reporting methods. The interviews with random staff and residents about the education program on PREA further support compliance. The Auditor also considered interviews with the PREA Compliance Manager, Facility Director, and PREA Coordinator and observation of the unit functioning.

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center is not exempt from the standard; Residents can file a grievance on conditions that violate their rights or prison rules. Sexual misconduct is a reason for which a resident can file a grievance. In the 12 months before the site visit, there were zero sexual assault or sexual harassment claims filed through the grievance process. The agency's grievance policy describes a grievance process and the intent to promote confidence in resolving a concern. "1. During orientation, staff shall inform juveniles of the mechanisms for making complaints and filing grievances and shall make a written complaint and grievance procedures available to juveniles. 2. Complaints and grievances are confidential. Only those persons necessary to resolve a complaint or grievance, or group of complaints or group of grievances (trend), shall be informed of the content. In resolving the issues, parties necessary to the communication and resolution of the issue are notified. 3. The complaint and grievance processes shall be administered in such a manner as to promote a dialog between staff and juveniles, where the juvenile will not fear reprisal (revenge/punishment) for conveying a complaint or making a grievance. Confidentiality serves this end." The Policy goes on to provide further information on grievances related to sexual misconduct. "Additional Requirements for All Grievances Concerning Sexual Abuse:

1. There shall be no time limit on grieving sexual abuse.
2. A resident who alleges sexual abuse may submit a grievance without submitting it to a staff member who is the subject of the complaint. Such grievance is not referred to a staff member who is the subject of the complaint.
3. Third parties, including fellow residents, staff members, family members, attorneys, and outside advocates, and parents/legal guardians shall be permitted to file a grievance on behalf of or assist residents in filing grievances relating to allegations of sexual abuse.
4. The PREA Office offers a web link, address, and phone number for parents/legal guardians to use for complaints." The Grievance Officer reports about ten formal grievances per year and other request he works to resolve for juveniles.

Indicator (b) Agency policy supports the resident's ability to file a grievance to a person who is not the subject of the grievance, and there is no time requirement for filing a PREA Grievance. There is also no requirement to resolve the situation through an informal process. Agency Policy sets forth these conditions and informs them of the confidential nature of the process. The Policy states that no grievances related to allegations of sexual abuse will ever be denied, the policy goes on to state these grievances will be handled automatically as an emergency grievance. "Emergency grievance: If a grievance alleges that a juvenile is at substantial risk of imminent sexual abuse, the director shall take immediate corrective action and provide an initial response to the juvenile within 48 hours of receiving the grievance. The Center Director/designee shall provide a final determination of whether the juvenile is at substantial risk of imminent sexual abuse and the action taken in response to the emergency grievance within 5 calendar days." The Chaplin at Wake is the individual who oversees the grievance process. He reviews all complaints with the facility Director.

Indicator (c) The facility has several steps to help juveniles make grievances. Each housing unit has a secure black box in which grievances or in-house mail to administration can be entered. The facility limits access to this box to the Chaplin and the administration. The Agency provides envelopes so residents can send sealed mail. If the person who handles grievances is the subject of the complaint, consistent with agency policy, the residents can send the grievance directly to the facility administrator. The Facility Director and the Chaplin did not report receiving any PREA-related grievances. NCDJJ grievance policy states, "A resident who alleges sexual abuse may submit a grievance without submitting it to a staff member who is the subject of the complaint. Such grievance is not referred to a staff member who is the subject of the complaint."

Indicator (d) Chapter 6 of the agency policy manual addressed the agency's internal grievance process. The policy sets forth the requirements for response and appeals consistent with the standard, including 90 days from submission and requirements for notification on extensions. At North Carolina facilities, all PREA-related notifications would be completed by the assigned PREA Support Person. The Director believes that grievance responses will generally be much quicker than 90 days.

Indicator (e) NCDJJ policy addresses the concerns of this indicator. "Third parties, including fellow residents, staff members, family members, attorneys, and outside advocates, and parents/legal guardians shall be permitted to file a grievance on behalf of or assist residents in filing grievances relating to allegations of sexual abuse." Residents spoken to by the Auditor confirmed that there is no prohibition on assisting or filing a grievance for another resident. Most residents did not pick grievances as an option for reporting a PREA concern without prompting. Most residents identified direct communication with staff and administrators or calling the PREA Hotline. Staff were also aware they needed to accept all complaints or grievances from third-party individuals.

Indicator (f) As noted in indicator (b), any grievance where there is an imminent risk for sexual misconduct requires immediate notification to the facility's chief administrative officer, and it will be handled as an emergency grievance. The policy states, "Emergency grievance: If a grievance alleges that a juvenile is at substantial risk of imminent sexual abuse, the director shall take immediate corrective action and provide an initial response to the juvenile within 48 hours of receiving the grievance. The Center Director/designee shall provide a final determination of whether the juvenile is at substantial risk of imminent sexual abuse and the action taken in response to the emergency grievance within 5 calendar days." There were no incidents in which an emergency grievance was filed in the last 12 months. Discussions with both the Facility Director and the PREA Compliance Manager support an expectation of an immediate response to any claim of sexual misconduct, including grievances focusing on providing the victim safety without the use of isolation.

Indicator (g) Residents can only be disciplined if, through an investigative process, it is substantiated that the grievance was filed in bad faith. This is the same standard for all PREA complaints filed, even if not through the formal grievance process. Agency policy (PREA pg. 13) states, "A report of sexual abuse made in good faith based upon a reasonable belief that the alleged conduct occurred shall not constitute falsely reporting an incident or lying, even if an investigation does not establish evidence sufficient to substantiate the allegation." There were no instances in which grievances were filed in bad faith. The juveniles I spoke with were able to describe the discipline process at the facility for lying and recognize that

	false allegations related to PREA would be taken seriously. Compliance Determination Wake Juvenile Detention Center is not exempt from the exhaustion of administrative remedies. The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has created a policy that promotes the use of a grievance process. The policy states, "Complaints and grievances are confidential. Only those persons necessary to resolve a complaint or grievance, or group of complaints or group of grievances (trend), should be informed of the content. In resolving the issues, parties necessary to the communication and resolution of the issue are notified. Complaint Process (conversation, written letters) Formal Grievance Process (Grievance submitted on a DJJ Grievance Form). The complaint and grievance processes shall be administered in such a manner as to promote a dialog between staff and juveniles, where the juvenile will not fear reprisal (revenge/punishment) for conveying a complaint or making a grievance. Confidentiality serves this end." With no PREA Grievance to review, compliance determination relied on the policy and interviews with the Facility Director, the Chaplain, and the residents who were aware the grievance process was a possible avenue to report a sexual misconduct concern.

Indicator (a) The Wake JDC provides access to the local rape crisis agency InterAct. The Auditor also spoke with InterAct representatives that they can support the population. The umbrella rape crisis agency in North Carolina Coalition Against Sexual Assault. (NCCASA) can also provide access to services in the facility and provide a network of resources for youth leaving custody to other parts of North Carolina. The Rape Crisis Center's employees are granted professional visitor status, which allows for confidential communication. This means that calls are not recorded, the mail is not read, and visitation can be private. The Wake JDC does not hold juveniles for civil immigration violations. The facility has postings to inform residents how to access legal assistance. The InterAct staff confirms they can provide all the required services, including accompaniment for hospital and legal interviews and supportive counseling and referral. The Auditor used the space that is provided for professional visits during the Audit. The facility, as noted in the prior standard, has several postings with information on accessing the local rape crisis agency. The Director and PCM confirmed that communication would be treated like any other professional communication and not be monitored. The Phone system does not record calls of juveniles, and the residents report that after the phone is dialed by staff, they give them some space to allow for privacy. The mail is also considered confidential, requiring it to just be opened in front of staff and the contents to be shaken out to ensure no contraband, but that staff does not read the mail. The Auditor reviewed the mailing address and phone numbers listed to ensure they matched the local agency information from their website. None of the residents reported trying to call or mail DSS or InterAct.

Indicator (b). At the inception of services, all residents are informed that confidentiality is limited when an individual has been victimized in the institution. All Wake Juvenile Detention Center residents sign acknowledgment forms on confidentiality limitations. Healthcare staff report that residents are educated on confidentiality as part of their service introduction for medical and mental health services. Juvenile calls are not recorded but are completed in an area near the office desk or they can request to make the call with the Health Services Coordinator. Juvenile understand the limitation of communication with mental Health Staff and the local rape crisis agency. They can use the phone on the housing floor, but if they want to speak to InterAct, they can make the call in the case worker or clinician's offices. As noted previously, the agency policy directs staff to supervise but not monitor the content of the communication. The Director reports professional calls do not have time limits.

Indicator (c) The Wake JDC has a Memorandum of Understanding with the InterAct, which covers providing victim services, including emotional support to victims of sexual abuse. A review of the MOU shows the document outlines what each party agrees to provide as part of the agreement. The agreement is current, and an interview with the InterAct representative confirmed the relationship and what services are provided to victims of sexual abuse. The NCDJJ PREA Office has a relationship with the state-wide rape crisis agency North Carolina Coalition Against Sexual Assault (NCCASA). There have not been reported cases in which a resident of Wake Juvenile Detention has engaged in services with the Local RCC as a result of abuse in the facility or elsewhere in their lives. Residents knew they could ask to speak to the mental health clinical staff or their case workers, which seemed more comfortable for most than an outside agency.

Indicator (d). Wake JDC provides the residents with an understanding of the levels of confidentiality in their communication with legal representatives or their parents. In interviews with the Mental Health Clinician, she reported they regularly remind residents about the limits of confidentiality related to any individuals at risk of harm. The residents understand these restrictions and that even during the phone call, staff can only hear their side of the question. Residents support that the staff does not hover while they are on calls, but because of the small dining area, visits are not as private as they would prefer. The detainees are not limited to the mail they can send. Resident phone calls are made at no financial cost to the youth or their families. As noted, many reporting options have pre-addressed envelopes for the juveniles to use. InterAct staff also confirmed the crisis counseling they provided individuals would not prevent reporting any ongoing abuse. Residents report they can also confidentially talk with their families or attorneys.

Compliance Determination

Resident victims at Wake JDC can access victim advocates for emotional support. The agency has entered into a Memorandum of Understanding with the InterAct to provide support to victims (Indicator (c)). As part of the audit process, the Auditor spoke by phone to InterAct representatives, who confirmed their ability to provide service to the Wake JDC facility. The PREA Brochure and signage throughout Wake JDC had a toll-free number for residents to access from the unit phone in the facility or with their case manager. The posting and expect respect brochure which has a national hotline number, informs residents they can call or write to outside agencies who could come to the facility to provide services as a professional visit. Residents could identify how confidential the communication is within the facility, including

	mail and telephone contacts. Residents also knew that outside counseling staff could be spoken to in a professional visiting setting. The Auditor could see posters for the local Rape Crisis Agency, NCCASA, and Department of Social Services for those detained. All indicators of this standard were covered in policy that supported compliance and the documentation visible on the tour and through interviews with residents and outside organizations. The Auditor suggested discussions between the facility and the local RCC to see if outreach programs could benefit juveniles and staff and ensure continued communication between the agencies.

The Auditor called and tested the third-party reporting system listed on the agency poster, and the PREA Coordinator received the message. The auditor observed information posted at the entrance, in visiting areas, and on all housing units. The Auditor also confirmed the information on the agency website was accurate and tested the reporting mechanism. Summary Determination Indicator (a) In several parts of the Agency's PREA policy, the Abuse and Neglect policy and North Carolina Statutes direct staff to report all knowledge or suspicion related to sexual misconduct against a resident. The agency's policy on abuse and neglect states it has "Juvenile Justice maintains a zero-tolerance policy towards all forms of abuse and neglect and stands committed to a culture of safety and security. Any staff member who has cause to suspect or receives any information that possible abuse and/or neglect of a juvenile occurred while in the physical custody of Juvenile Justice, while under the direct supervision of Juvenile Justice, or occurring in or on Juvenile Justice-operated facilities/grounds or Court Counselor offices, must take immediate action and adhere to the procedures outlined within policy and standard operating procedures to ensure the safety of juvenile(s) and compliance with required reporting. For all incidents involving suspected or alleged sexual abuse of a juvenile in the physical custody of or while under the direct supervision of Juvenile Justice, reference sectional PREA policies (Juvenile Justice Facilities Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy and Court Services Juvenile Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy." The agency PREA policy also defines further steps to be taken, including mandating the use of checklist/tracking forms and notifications to the state's Department of Social Services, which receives and investigates all abuse incidents of children. The Policy also notifies staff that failure to report can lead to termination. The policy states, "Staff has a duty to report any allegation that residents are having sexual relationships with other residents or with staff, as well as a duty to initiate the PREA Sexual Abuse Incident Response Checklist (Form YD 001). The senior person in charge has a duty to initiate the PREA Sexual Abuse Incident Response Checklist (Form YD 002). All reports of sexual abuse or sexual harassment, however made, are to be forwarded to the Center Director (following the chain of command) and the PREA Office immediately. Failure of staff to report alleged incidents of sexual abuse or sexual harassment will subject the non-reporting staff member to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal. Staff may use the DPS PREA public site to report allegations. NOTE: Sexual harassment is considered neglect and is reported to DSS and investigated by the Department of Public Safety."

All instances of alleged or suspected abuse/neglect are, according to staff, reported to DSS and recorded in TROI Report. The staff interviewed by the Auditor were clear that knowledge of misconduct by staff through actions or inactions leading to abuse must be reported. All the staff understood their responsibilities under North Carolina law as mandated abuse and neglect reporters. The Auditor reviewed state laws on abuse reporting requirements.

Indicator (b) NCDJJ policy Juvenile Justice Facilities Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy and Procedures states (on page 14) that all reports of abuse will include reporting the incident to the Department of Social Services (DSS). As noted in Indicator (a), the agency's Abuse and Neglect Policy also sets forth this requirement. Random staff interviewed were aware of the requirement, and the Auditor was provided with examples of the NCDJJ PREA Incident Checklists, which remind staff to notify DSS and local police on all allegations of sexual abuse and on any allegation of sexual harassment if a staff person is the alleged perpetrator. The Auditor found DSS and Police notification requirements on all checklists, reviewed state statutes online, and confirmed the expectations with DSS representatives.

Indicator (c) Random staff were aware of the importance of keeping information disclosed by a resident to those needing knowledge, such as the Supervisor on duty and appropriate medical or Mental Health staff who may respond. The NCDPS PREA Incident Checklist (item 5) reminds staff that all allegations are reported to the senior person in charge. "Notify the senior person in charge. All information is confidential and kept on a need-to-know basis. All involved staff remain present until released by the senior person in charge. The information about the incident is confidential and should only be shared on a need-to-know basis." The line and supervisory staff confirmed that confidentiality must be maintained.

Indicator (d) As noted in previous standards, the medical and mental health staff ensure client confidentiality unless there is a risk that another could impact the safety of individuals. Staff report residents are informed that they understand the limits of confidentiality with medical and mental health upon initiation of services. As noted in indicator (b), North Carolina state law requires notification of the Department of Social Services for any abuse of juvenile residents. Medical and mental health staff were able to discuss the requirements for informed consent and how they notify all residents at the initiation of services on the limitations of their confidentiality. Interviews with residents also confirmed they understood that the nurse or the clinical staff would have to report any time someone was a victim or at risk of being abused. Agency staff also confirmed that parents/guardians would also be notified of any sexual abuse allegation.

Indicator (e) Agency PREA Policy (page 22) sets forth the obligation to notify the parent or legal guardians of any allegation of sexual assault. It states, "Ensure appropriate signed individual consent forms are obtained for participation in the acute medical evaluation, the comprehensive medical evaluation, and/or the forensic mental health evaluation. The limitations of confidentiality must be explained to the alleged victim and/or the parents and/or the legal guardians at the time that consent is signed.” Reviewing the incident tracking form shows where staff are to document when DSS, Parent/Guardians, Court Counselor, and their Social Worker. Discussions with staff and DSS representative confirmed there are youth with a variety of guardianship situations who could be in a Juvenile Detention Center.

Indicator (f) Agency Policy and the review of facility incident checklists confirmed that the facility investigator must be informed of any allegations. The Shift Supervisors knew that they would notify the Director/ PREA Compliance Manager, Assistant Director and the Nurse. The NCDJJ TROI system would also create an immediate notification to the individual in DJJ who would assign an investigator if one was not available or there was a concern on the perception of a conflict of interest. The Investigator interviewed confirmed that in an allegation against staff, the investigator assigned to do the administrative investigation would likely come from another facility.

Compliance Determination

NCDJJ has multiple policies and statutes that direct staff in the handling of a report of Sexual Assault or Sexual Harassment. Random staff interviews confirmed that staff are aware of the immediate need to report all accusations of sexual assault or sexual harassment. They knew this included a third party and anonymous complaints and accusations that may not be true. The staff interviewed knew they also had to report on a coworker whose actions or inactions led to a sexual assault. Staff were aware of the importance of timely reporting and the need to provide confidentiality about information. Staff were aware that exceptions are when reporting to supervisory staff, investigative staff, or information needed to secure treatment or provide for the safety/security of others.

The facility’s Medical and Mental Health staff were aware of the timely reporting concerns. Supervisors also know to contact the resident’s parent/guardian, facility and agency Administration, local law enforcement, and the Department of Social Services. The juveniles spoke with understood the limitations of confidentiality on information about ongoing or past abuse. The above-stated facts support compliance and that the staff clearly understands the responsibility to report a concern related to PREA. The Auditor also considered, absent a PREA allegation, the various checklists that would guide staff response and ensure the indicators of this standard are met.

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center has had no incident in which they enacted steps to protect a resident in imminent risk of sexual abuse. Interviews with the Facility Director and the Agency Head's designee support a commitment to the safety of all juveniles served in DJJ facilities. The Wake Juvenile Detention Center has four units to separate potential victims and perpetrators. The facility can place youth at risk on a safety plan to allow him to move separately from any individual or group of aggressors. If the facility believes a resident might be at risk, the facility can place them on what is described as almost a one-to-one for extra support. The agency will consider the movement of an individual if safety risks cannot be alleviated to one of several other DJJ facilities in the state. Juveniles with behavioral concerns are managed using a safety plan without isolation from the entire population. In these plans, the aggressor is constantly evaluated until the individual can be safely returned to the population DJJ. PREA Policy 200 sets forth staff obligations to act to protect residents. "When an employee, volunteer, contractor, or custodial agent learns that an offender, resident, or safekeeper is subject to a substantial risk of imminent sexual abuse, immediate action shall be taken to protect the offender, resident, or safekeeper." Random staff knew the expectation was to respond immediately, protect the resident, and notify appropriate supervisors to ensure the concerns could be investigated. Given the small size of the facility, the high staffing ratio, and the fact that all residents are always under direct supervision, it would be unlikely that an imminent risk situation for sexual abuse would occur. Compliance Determination The Wake Juvenile Detention Center administration and the North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention administration verbally commit to resident safety. They both support that they have options to protect a resident from potential abuse. Interviews with facility and agency administration supported the ability to be responsive to individuals who were at risk of abuse in addition to those who may have been the victims of abuse. Random staff interviewed identified what to do in situations of imminent risk, including immediate separation of parties, increased contact, support to the residents, notification up the chain of command, and documentation of the incident. Compliance was determined based on the interviews with the Administration and line staff. The Auditor also considered that residents expressed that staff were approachable and believed staff would take a complaint seriously and maintain their safety.

Indicator (a) The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Policy outlines the requirements if an individual discloses at one facility that they were previously victimized at a prior juvenile correctional facility. The policy requires the notification is made to the state PREA Coordinator and the facility administrator or designee. There was no reported incident of sexual abuse allegations made while the resident was living at another facility. The interview with the Facility Director supports the culture is in place to ensure all allegations, including ones that occurred in another setting, are reported promptly. The Facility Director knew that residents who disclose abuse at another facility must be reported to the facility Head of that other facility. Agency PREA 200 policy (page 6) states, "C. Reporting Allegations of Sexual Abuse and/or Sexual Harassment that Occurred at a Prior Adult Correctional or Juvenile Confinement Facility

1. Upon receiving an allegation that an offender, resident, or safekeeper was sexually abused and/or sexually harassed while confined at a prior adult correctional or juvenile confinement facility, the Facility Head that received the allegation shall notify the DPS PREA Office and the Facility Head or appropriate office of the agency where the alleged abuse occurred.

2. Such notification shall be provided as soon as possible, but no later than 72 hours after receiving the allegation.

3. The Facility Head shall document such notification by completing a memorandum to file and uploading it into the correspondence tracking system (CTS) for adult offenders or NC-JOIN for juvenile residents.

4. Upon receiving notification from another facility or agency that an allegation of sexual abuse and/or sexual harassment has been reported, the Facility Head shall ensure the allegation is investigated in accordance with the DPS-PREA-200 PREA Investigations policy and applicable Division policies."

Indicator (b) The PREA Coordinator, Assistant Director, and Facility Director were all aware in their formal interviews that notifications to outside facilities should be made as soon as possible but no later than 24 hours, which exceeds the standard requirement of 72 hours. There were no such reported incidents for the Auditor to review.

Indicator (c) Agency policy, as stated in indicator (a), requires notifications to be documented. Since there were no incidents, the Auditor relied on policy and the knowledge of the individuals interviewed.

Indicator (d) Documentation was provided that there were no outside reports of sexual assault of a former resident from another facility. The facility Director confirmed, consistent with the policy, that all outside allegations will result in an

	investigation. Compliance Determination North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention policy addresses the requirements of reporting to other confinement facilities of incidents of sexual assault that had occurred in those facilities. The policy requires that at all facilities, notification is done in writing and within 72 hours. Interviews with the facility Director and PREA Coordinator confirmed they were aware of their responsibilities, including the documentation of notifications. Absent a current case, compliance with this standard was based on the agency policy, the Facility Director, and the PREA Compliance Manager’s knowledge of their responsibilities.

A. Alert local Emergency Medical Services (911) if the alleged victim(s) is exhibiting signs of obvious life-threatening injury and/or significantly altered mental state;

B. Separate the alleged victim(s) and the alleged aggressors(s);

C. Use the Sexual Abuse Incident Response Checklist to guide all subsequent actions; REFERENCE: Sexual Abuse Incident Response Checklist (Form YD 001 for first responders, and Form YD 002 for senior person in charge)

D. Immediately inform the senior person in charge of all knowledge, suspicion, and/or information pertaining to:

1. Sexual abuse, involving a resident(s) within the center,
2. Retaliation against resident(s) or staff who reported concerns of sexual abuse, sexual harassment, and/or voyeurism involving a resident(s) within the center, and/or
3. Staff neglect/violation of responsibilities that may have contributed to an incident and/or retaliation; and
4. Preserve and protect the potential crime scene(s) until the formal investigation is initiated.

E. Request that the alleged victim (resident) avoid actions that could destroy (potential) physical evidence, including:

1. Washing (including hands and face),
2. Bathing (including body and anogenital areas),
3. Brushing teeth/flossing teeth/gargling,
4. Changing/removing clothing,
5. Urinating/defecating,
6. Removing a tampon and/or sanitary pad,

7. Cutting/trimming/cleaning fingernails,

9. Drinking/eating/chewing gum.

Note: First responders (senior person in charge and staff) are prohibited from revealing any information regarding the alleged sexual abuse, of a resident of a center unless expressly required to secure the immediate safety of a resident, and/or to meet mandated investigation, evaluation, intervention, and/or treatment requirements as established by state, local, and/or NC law and/or policy.

G. Inform the center nurse or human services coordinator regarding all knowledge, suspicion, and/or information pertaining to sexual abuse involving a resident(s) of that center during regular business hours (If the initial concern is reported after regular business hours, the senior person in charge, or his/her designee, shall report all concerns by the next business day).

H. Inform the Health Services Manager regarding all knowledge, suspicion, and/or information pertaining to sexual abuse involving a resident(s) of a center during regular business hours (If the initial concern is reported after regular business hours, the senior person in charge, or his/her designee, shall report all concerns by the next business day).

I. Inform the center clinical lead or designee or Director of Behavioral Health regarding all knowledge, suspicion and/or information pertaining to sexual abuse, involving a resident(s) in that center, during regular business hours (If the initial concern is reported after regular business hours, the senior person in charge, or his/her designee, shall report all concerns by the next business day).

associated with the center of concern) regarding all knowledge, suspicion and/or information pertaining to sexual abuse, involving a resident(s) of a center, and JJ staff, contractors, and/or volunteers.

K. Inform the alleged victim's parents and/or legal guardians of all concerns pertaining to possible sexual abuse, involving a resident(s) within a center, and the timing/location of all evaluation referrals.

Note: If the alleged victim is under the guardianship of the North Carolina child welfare system, the report shall be made to the alleged victim's caseworker instead of the parents and/or legal guardians.

Note: The senior person in charge and staff are prohibited from revealing any information regarding the alleged sexual abuse of a resident of a center unless expressly required to secure the immediate safety of a resident, and/or to meet mandated investigation, evaluation, intervention, and/or treatment requirements as established by state or local law or policy, or by NC DPS policy.”

The Auditor reviewed the corresponding first responder’s checklist which provides brief reminders on the steps to be taken.

“1. Record all information about the incident to be provided to the PREA investigator (e.g. date & time the incident was reported, name of the person making report, if known: date/time of alleged incident, location, name of victim, name of assailant, names of witnesses.) Do not ask questions that can impede the investigation.

2 Follow PREA Medical Protocol (if applicable) a. Notify center nurse, human services coordinator, center director or supervisor (based on availability at center) Name of person notified _____ b. Provide medical attention per PREA Medical Protocol “supplies as part of the incident scene (refer to PREA training manual regarding preserving evidence).

3 Separate alleged victim and assailant. If needed, move whichever is deemed appropriate to ensure there is no contact. Separate known witnesses (if applicable).

4 Secure the scene (if applicable) until senior person in charge assumes control of the scene. a. Start Incident Scene Tracking Log (OPA-I20) and limit number of people entering or leaving the scene. Turn log over to senior person in charge.

b. If presented items with possible forensic evidence, use latex gloves and designated evidence bags. If collected, each item must be placed in a separate evidence bag with juveniles name, date, time, description of item and total number of bags. Additionally, the Chain of Custody form must be used.

5 Notify the senior person in charge. All information is confidential and kept on a need to know basis. All involved staff remain present until released by the senior person in charge.

6 Make notification to DSS and Law Enforcement (as locally agreed upon) for all sexual abuse cases and all staff/juvenile sexual harassment cases.”

The Auditor asked all random staff about their awareness of the first responder's duties. Random staff also were able to provide examples of how they would respond consistently to the policy. Wake JDC provides staff with access to PREA manuals, which reinforce the duties of a first responder. The manuals also include the policy, the First Responder Checklist, and the PREA Incident checklist, further supporting the fulfillment of first responder duties.

Indicator (b) All staff and contractors in the Department of Public Safety are trained on how to protect evidence in the event of a sexual assault. The random custody and non-custody staff interviewed recognized the importance of closing off the crime scene, separating individuals, and instructing the individuals not to eat, drink, wash, or use the bathroom. They also know not to have them change clothing. The local law enforcement will complete a crime scene analysis, and the victim will be sent out to the local hospital with a Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner. As noted in indicator (a), there is specific information staff are trained on in protecting evidence. The Auditor also reviewed the training materials that all staff are trained on the expectations of the first responder to an allegation of sexual abuse.

Compliance Determination

The North Carolina Department of Public Safety trains all Juvenile Justice employees and contractors in the duties of a first responder. North Carolina DPS has developed a coordinated response plan that gives first responders directions and information to support them through the crisis. Compliance determination relied on the interviews with staff who could identify steps 1-4 in (Indicator a) and that they were to tell the alleged victim and perpetrator not to do anything that could affect the evidence collection. Medical staff and educational staff were also aware of the steps to preserve evidence. (Indicator B). Facility staff are prepared to respond, as evidenced in their answers that support an understanding of first responder duties. Staff interviewed confirmed steps taken to protect the resident, the evidence, and the crime scene. Compliance is based on policy, systems in place to ensure first responder expectations are met, and absent a first responder incident, the interviews with random staff who knew what to do to protect the resident, and the steps taken to preserve evidence.

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has ensured each Juvenile Justice facility has a preparedness plan for sexual assault incidents. The agency's PREA policy states, "The PCM will ensure the center has a written, institutional plan (this policy, medical protocol, and Forms YD 001 and 002) for a coordinated response (first responders, medical, mental health, investigators, senior leadership) to resident sexual abuse and harassment issues. In the Auditor's review of the documents, he found the plan directs staff in their duties, so a coordinated response is done the same way each time. The plan is individualized at the facility level to increase staff response time and accuracy of information needed, including specific staff who will be responsive for different roles. The facility has developed and updated its response plan in the past year. All staff understood their respective role in responding to allegations of sexual misconduct. Line staff knew their first responder duties, and Supervisory staff knew the need to report to facility leadership while ensuring medical care is provided immediately. Medical and mental health staff supported an understanding of initial responding roles and the role in the follow-up. The investigator understood the importance of coordination with local law enforcement investigators. The Director and PREA Compliance understood their roles in managing the incident while the investigation was ongoing and the duties required post-investigation, including

	critical analysis and providing ongoing support to the potential victim and those who cooperated in the investigation. Compliance Determination Wake Juvenile Detention Center is compliant because it has developed a coordinated response plan that directs staff in their duties. The plan is reviewed and updated by a multidisciplinary team and is continually available. The available checklist, PREA binders on each unit, and random staff interviews further support compliance. The facility plan describes the duties of first responders, supervisory staff, investigative staff, and medical and mental health staff duties. Interviews with the Facility Director, PREA Compliance Manager, Supervisory staff, and medical staff all confirm knowledge of their roles in the plan. The facility has a PREA emergency binder to ensure a consistent response to sexual assault incidents.

Indicator (a) North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has information on the expectation to monitor individuals after any PREA claims. The Agency PREA policy aims to protect all residents and staff who report sexual abuse or sexual harassment or cooperate with sexual abuse or sexual harassment investigations from retaliation by other residents or staff. The Policy language also goes on to define the individuals who would monitor residents and who would monitor staff. The agency PREA policy states, "Retaliation against staff or residents alleging resident sexual abuse or sexual harassment is prohibited. Unless the allegation is determined to be unfounded, management is responsible for monitoring the conduct and treatment of residents and staff who reported the sexual abuse and the residents who were reported to have suffered sexual abuse for at least 90 days following the report. The PREA Support Person is responsible for monitoring residents who report or have suffered sexual abuse. The PSP will document retaliation monitoring on the OPA-I24 (Offender/Juvenile Retaliation Report). The PREA Compliance Manager is responsible for monitoring staff who report sexual abuse incidents for indications and/or signs of retaliation (e.g., disciplinary actions, behavioral changes, etc.). Monitoring shall continue beyond 90 days if the initial monitoring indicates a continuing need. The PCM will document staff retaliation monitoring on the OPA-I22 (Staff Retaliation Report). Any staff who have knowledge, suspicion, or information regarding retaliation against residents or staff who report sexual abuse or harassment must immediately report that knowledge, suspicion, or information to the PREA Office by telephone or email: PREA@ncdps.gov."

The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has created voluntary positions for facility staff who want to serve as PREA Support Persons (PSP). The facility Director approves the individuals, and they receive additional training annually. The PSPs serve as go-to persons for victims or other residents who cooperate in an investigation of sexual misconduct. The Policy defines their roles in monitoring for retaliation of residents. The policy also requires the PREA Compliance Manager to serve as the individual responsible for monitoring staff for retaliation. The PREA Compliance Manager will ensure the monitoring process is documented. The form documents the types of monitoring in the given week, from the review of incidents and discipline to follow-up with mental health or direct conversation with the resident by the person completing the monitoring. There have been no incidents requiring the monitoring of juveniles or staff. The Auditor spoke with the PSP and the PCM, who were aware of the requirements.

Indicator (b) The facility Director supported the facility's staff enough with sufficient housing units to ensure individuals who have been separated post a PREA Incident can be safely managed to ensure no retaliation. Residents would routinely be offered counseling services and PREA Support Services would provide routine check-ins to ensure the client is feeling safe. Staff who may have concerns would work with the operational supervisor to mitigate the concern. The Director supports that the alleged victim would be kept apart from the alleged aggressors. The agency as noted in 115.67 has the ability to remove alleged staff from contact with alleged victims. The Director reports any retaliation or ongoing concerns that could result in one of the residents moving to other facilities as deemed necessary.

Indicator (c) As noted in Indicator (a), the North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention policy supports all individuals (Residents and Staff) who report a PREA Incident are monitored for changes in behaviors that might be a symptom of their being retaliated against. The form developed also addresses the nine elements of this indicator. In the OAS, the facility reported there had been no incidents where retaliation monitoring was required. In NCDJDP facilities, the assigned PREA Support Persons must document if they reviewed discipline, if housing moves are requested, programmatic or overall behavioral changes, and if face-to-face communication has occurred or if a mental health follow-up was requested from any of the monitoring concerns. As a treatment environment, the PSP would have access to the treatment team in addition to their own observations.

The agency PREA policy states the monitoring will go for a period of at least 90 days. The Auditor was able to interview a PREA Support Person on their role and what they consider in the monitoring process. Including the frequency they would have with the resident directly. The PSP is required to provide documentation of their efforts to notify the PCM immediately if they have any concerns of possible retaliation. Agency PREA Policy describes the duties of the PSP and required documentation (OPA-124). All monitoring is filed with the Director, who will approve when monitoring is complete or if it should be extended beyond 90 days. The Director confirmed that staff who cooperated in an investigation would be monitored by himself. Interviews completed by the Auditor with the PSP and PCM both supported they understood their roles and the information they should be aware of in determining if an individual appears to be being retaliated against even if they do not report it themselves.

Indicator (d) The occurrence of status checks can be documented through the form Developed by the North Carolina Department of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention. The PSP can obtain information through discussions with supervisors, medical or mental health, line staff or the juvenile themselves. The PSP can review logs, discipline records, and room assignments to determine if their actions appear retaliatory. The NC Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention PREA policy indicates the PSP is expected to complete direct conversations with the victim weekly during the first three weeks and at periodically thereafter (but no longer than 30 days). The PSP is also required to speak with the facility Director and the agency Investigators about the status check-ins if there is any concern about retaliation. The PSP will also do notifications on investigation outcomes.

Indicator (e) As noted in indicator (b), the facility has sufficient means to protect a resident. Wake Juvenile Detention Center has several Juvenile facilities for housing juveniles adjudicated by the court. The facility has four housing units, and all residents are single-celled. Juveniles are never unsupervised in the facility, and units do not interact. Interviews with the Director, the PCM, and the PSP all support the idea that planning would be assessed frequently to ensure the juvenile's feeling of safety.

Indicator (f) The Auditor is not required to review this indicator.

Compliance Determination

The North Carolina Department of Public Safety has a policy to address this standard's elements. Documentation supports the facility has in place sufficiently trained staff in PSPs and a form that ensures consistent documentation of the person being monitored in compliance with monitoring expectations. Random staff knew who the facility PCM and PSP were and that all individuals who would be involved in a PREA incident would be monitored.

The Agency has developed a cadre of staff in the PREA Support Persons at each facility to ensure residents have an individual they could feel comfortable discussing their ongoing safety after making an allegation of sexual misconduct. The PREA Compliance Manager and Facility Director were aware that retaliation monitoring should be done with all individuals who cooperate with the investigation. The standard is compliant based on completed interviews, forms in place to document monitoring, the training provided to PSPa, Interviews completed, and the policy.

The Director confirmed that it is not their practice to isolate individuals, and if there is a concern, the individual with greater restrictions would be the aggressor, not the victim. The facility would only investigate administratively as local law enforcement would complete criminal investigations, reportedly the Wake County Sheriff’s Office or the Raleigh Police Department. The North Carolina Department of Juvenile Justice’s PREA policy 300 set forth the responsibilities of the facility and the agency investigator, including the need for a prompt, thorough investigation of the facts, a complete report outlining the processes undertaken, and the reasoning behind the findings. The policy and the coordinated response plan define duties, and agency policy requires the investigation of all allegations, including those from a third party or anonymous sources. The policy and the coordinated response plan define duties, and agency policy requires the investigation of all allegations, including those from a third party or anonymous sources. “Investigations into allegations of sexual abuse and sexual harassment shall be conducted promptly, thoroughly, and objectively for all allegations, including third-party and anonymous reports.”

The Department supports the objective investigatory process through its Office of Special Investigations. If the allegation involved a staff member, it was explained to the auditor that an investigator not associated with the facility would lead the investigation. The investigator will work with the local law enforcement agency to ensure the administrative investigation does not impinge on the criminal investigation. In discussions with a trained Investigator, he confirmed he would coordinate with facility staff, agency leadership, and local law enforcement in the event of a sexual abuse allegation. DJJ PREA Policy 300 also covers the indicator’s language when it states, “If an alleged act of sexual abuse or sexual harassment is reported or discovered, an immediate preliminary review shall be conducted by a SAH investigator to determine if the incident meets the standards of PREA.”

Interviews with random staff confirmed that they must report all allegations of sexual misconduct for investigation no matter who the source is (third party), if the allegation is anonymous, or their own beliefs about the validity of the allegation.

The Facility Director confirmed he would be called into the facility to take immediate steps and coordinate if needed. The Facility Director will notify agency leadership, the State PREA Coordinator, and the individual who assigns a trained investigator to report to the facility from the region. They reinforced that all allegations, no matter the source, are investigated.

Indicator (b) As noted in 115.334, the North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has multiple staff statewide who have completed a course on administrative investigations of sexual assaults in a correctional institution. There is one staff member at Wake JDC who had completed the investigator training for PREA allegations. If the trained individual was not available, NCDPS would assign a trained investigator for residents on resident allegations from another regional detention center nearby. Wake JDC will rely on local law enforcement (Wake County Sheriffs and Raleigh Police Department) to do crime scene investigations, including any DNA or other evidence collection. The Auditor review of each agency’s website confirmed sufficient resources for investigating sexual abuse cases and juvenile cases. The Sheriff’s Office is also experienced in running two confinement facilities for adults with 1500 beds. The Raleigh Police Department. is a major metropolitan police force with units dedicated to juvenile crime and sexual abuse investigations.

The auditor confirmed through staff interviews that they knew how to protect evidence. The Director would also ensure that written reports and electronic surveillance evidence would be made available to the criminal investigators. The Auditor reviewed policies on how to handle sexual abuse cases, which included language on client center approach and ensuring trauma-informed communication with victims.

Indicator (c) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center’s Director is a staff member trained as a facility investigator. In the investigator interview, he described the steps to preserve evidence but said that the local police investigators would complete actual evidence collection at the crime scene. The facility staff knew how to ensure the preservation of evidence, including DNA, closing off the crime scene, and asking the individuals not to do anything to destroy evidence on their persons. The Investigator spoke on how evidence collected by the SAFE/SANE at the local hospital would become part of the criminal investigative file. He also spoke on the interview process and how prior records may be used to assess the credibility of witnesses and others involved. The facility staff could all explain how to protect evidence until the law enforcement authorities arrived. Agency policy addresses the retention of evidence; "When a video is available that is associated with an alleged sexual abuse or harassment incident, a copy of the video will be maintained with the full investigative package in accordance with DPS retention policy." The Policy further states, "In order to preserve the integrity of the investigation and if law enforcement is not involved, then one person or a specific team shall be designated to investigate an incident, and only that person (or team) shall be involved in the collection of evidence and interviewing of potential witnesses. A thorough investigation is necessary to ensure the potential for prosecution/legal action. "In the event of a criminal investigation, DPS staff are directed not to move forward on administrative investigation steps, including interviews, until approved by the criminal investigator. The NCDPS has trained all staff on how to preserve evidence, including closing off crime scenes and encouraging the alleged victim and aggressor not to do anything that would destroy or degrade evidence. The Auditor also reviewed the NCDPS Investigator course for DJJ investigators. The Training covers expectations on evidence collection, including direct and circumstantial evidence, including video tapes and written statements by staff. The training materials and interviews with the Investigator described who needs to be interviewed (victims, perpetrators, and witnesses) as well as how to use historical information.

Indicator (d) The Investigator confirms they will not terminate an investigation if a resident recants their allegation. Agency PREA policy (page 18) states, "The Department of Public Safety shall not terminate an investigation solely because the source of the allegation recants the allegation." Neither the Police nor the facility Investigator will halt their respective investigations if the victim or perpetrator is no longer at the facility. The facility Investigator's interview and the 300-plus page training also confirm this expectation.

Indicator (e) The criminal investigator and the local prosecutor would make the determination on compelled interviews. NCDJJ investigators would not be completing compelled interviews. NCDPS Policy states, "When the quality of evidence appears to support a criminal prosecution, the Department of Public Safety shall conduct compelled interviews only after consulting with prosecutors as to whether compelled interviews may be an obstacle for subsequent criminal prosecution while maintaining resident rights. Substantiated allegations of sexual abuse that appear to be criminal/delinquent shall be referred to the District Attorney. The departure of the alleged aggressor or victim from the employment or control of the Department of Public Safety shall not provide a basis for terminating an investigation.”

Indicator (f) The Investigator interviewed confirmed that a victim is not required to undergo any polygraph or other truth-telling process to proceed with an investigation. The Investigator confirmed in the discussions with the Auditor what the policy requires (PREA policy -page 18). “A resident that alleges sexual abuse shall not be required to submit to a polygraph examination or other truth-telling device as a condition for proceeding with the investigation of such an allegation.” The NCDPS training has the investigating staff person assess the credibility of everyone involved in the case without biases toward their position as a staff member or resident.

Indicator (g). All criminal investigations potentially can include a referral to the NCDPS Special Investigations Unit if the evidence supports that a staff person's actions or inactions led to a resident-on-resident sexual assault. Administrative investigations into sexual harassment claims or other staff actions in sexual misconduct investigations can result in discipline outside of termination. All administrative investigations that are completed are required to have a related investigation file which includes written or oral statements, video or other physical evidence, and the reasoning behind the conclusions reached. The facility investigator interviewed confirmed that in resident-on-resident allegations, the administrative investigation will include an assessment of staff actions or inactions that may have contributed to the incident's occurring. The Auditor confirmed with all random staff the expectation that they must report all staff actions or inactions that lead to a sexual abuse incident. Records are kept by the Director, the PREA Office, and the Special Investigations Unit when staff are the alleged abuser.

Indicator (h). All criminal investigations would be completed by the Raleigh Police Department or the Wake County Sheriff’s Office. As noted above, there were no sexual abuse allegations for the Auditor to review.

Indicator (i) The Auditor reviewed investigative files from incidents in the last 12 months. Agency policy requires all criminal acts to be referred for a criminal prosecution, and interviews with facility leadership support they would encourage prosecution in the event of a sexual assault incident. The Auditor confirmed with the facility Director that they would stay informed about any required steps toward prosecution requiring resident notification. As the state's law enforcement agency, the NCDPS, the parent agency of NCDJJD, expects that criminal conduct is referred for prosecution.

Indicator (j). The North Carolina Department of Public Safety requires record retention for a period of 5 years beyond the resident's involvement with DJJ. Policy language covers the standard indicator. The Auditor reviewed other agency documentation on the website supporting this and addressed the issue with the trained investigator. The investigative file, including all electronic evidence, is kept at both the facility and agency levels.

Indicator (k) Agency policy mirrors the standard language, and the Investigator's interview confirmed an individual's departure from the institution would not result in the case being closed. "The departure of the alleged aggressor or victim from the employment or control of the Department of Public Safety shall not provide a basis for terminating an investigation." The alleged victim was moved to an adult facility because of his age amid the investigation. Reports reviewed included documentation of interviews with the individual by the criminal and administrative investigators after the individual was transferred.

Indicator (l): The Auditor is not required to audit this provision.

Indicator (m) As noted in the above indicators, both facility leadership and the investigator interviewed confirm they would remain informed on criminal investigations completed by the local law enforcement staff. The facility leadership and the PREA Support persons were aware of the need to inform the victim if they were still in custody, the outcome of the investigation, if it was referred for prosecution, and if the individual was indicted. Notification would be made if the individual was reportedly in any DJJ facility.

Compliance Determination

The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has policy language that supports this standard. In determining compliance, the Auditor took into consideration many factors. The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has sufficient and appropriately trained individuals who can complete sexual assault administrative investigations and have developed relationships with local law enforcement agencies to complete criminal investigations. North Carolina Department of Public Safety Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention investigates all potential sexual-related incidents as possible PREA events, even if the residents report the actions were consensual. In

	doing so, they ensure all incidents are investigated and evidence is collected, which provides an opportunity for a reluctant victim to come forward later. To ensure issues are handled impartially, the NCDPS Office of Special Investigations would assign an administrative investigator not associated with the facility. During the Auditor’s interview, the NCDPS-trained investigator was able to identify the steps taken to gather evidence and how the credibility of the various persons involved is determined on an individual basis, and a polygraph exam would not be required for the initiation of an investigation. Consistent with policy, it was stated that investigative reports would be completed on all administrative and criminal investigations. The facility has a plan to remain informed on criminal cases handled through the local law enforcement agency. Absent an actual investigation, compliance is based on policy, interviews, and documentation provided and reviewed online.

This standard is satisfied

	if the evidence shows that it is more probable than not that an event occurred. The preponderance of the evidence is a lesser standard of proof than “beyond a reasonable doubt,” which is required to convict in a criminal trial.” The Auditor’s Interview with the trained investigator confirmed that no greater standard is used. The administrative investigator outlined credibility assessments, including looking at consistency in interviews versus other evidence. Compliance Determination Compliance was based on the policy language, the interview with the trained investigator, and the investigator's training materials review.

The PREA 300 policy states, “Following an investigation into an offender, resident, or safekeeper’s allegation they suffered sexual abuse or sexual harassment in a facility, the PSP shall inform the offender, resident, or safekeeper as to whether the allegation has been determined to be substantiated, unsubstantiated, or unfounded. The notification shall be documented on Form OPA-130 Support Services.” The agency’s PREA policy also requires notification to residents if the allegation was substantiated, unsubstantiated, or determined to be unfounded. The policy also states, “Following an allegation that a resident has been sexually abused by a staff member (unless unfounded), the alleged victim shall be informed by the PSP whenever

(1) the staff member is no longer posted in the resident’s unit,

(2) the staff member is no longer employed at the center,

(3) the agency learns the staff member has been indicted on a charge related to sexual abuse within the center, or

(4) the agency learns the staff member has been convicted of a charge related to sexual abuse within the center.

Following an allegation that a resident has been sexually abuse by another resident, the alleged victim shall be informed by the PSP whenever:

(1) the agency learns the alleged abuser has been indicted on a charge related to sexual abuse within the center, or

(2) the alleged abuser has been convicted on a charge of sexual abuse within the center. The obligation to provide the results of the investigation is terminated if the resident is released from the agency’s custody.” The investigation's outcome notifications are to be documented on a department-approved form and kept as part of the investigative file. The Auditor received a copy of the OPA 130A form in English and Spanish. Discussions with the Investigator and the Director both supported that communication with the Police and Courts would be ongoing to ensure timely notifications are made.

Indicator (b) As noted in the previous indicator, the Wake JDC administration and the DJJDP assigned Investigator would ensure they are kept abreast of the criminal case so they can update the victim as required.

Indicators (c & d). The NCDPS policy requires the PREA Support Person to notify the victim if the accused perpetrator is a staff person, contractor, or volunteer. As noted in indicator (a), the policy states the various points in which notifications are to be made. The PSP will also notify the victim when the individual has been removed from areas where they would come in contact or if they have been removed from access to the facility. “The alleged victim shall be provided a completed OPA-130 (PREA Support Services form) by the PSP with the results of the investigation.” The policy also requires notifications to be made to any resident regarding any indictment or conviction of a perpetrator if the victim is still in custody. “Disposition of PREA Investigation

1. The alleged victim shall be informed in writing by the PSP of the results of the investigation.

REFERENCE: PREA template for this notification.

2. Following an allegation that a resident has been sexually abused by a staff member (unless unfounded), the alleged victim shall be informed by the PSP whenever;

a) The staff member is no longer posted in the resident's unit,

b) The staff member is no longer employed at the center,

c) The agency learns the staff member has been indicted on a charge related to sexual abuse within the center, or

d) The agency learns the staff member has been convicted of a charge related to sexual abuse within the center.

3. Following an allegation that a resident has been sexually abused by another resident, the alleged victim shall be informed by the PSP whenever:

a) The agency learns the alleged abuser has been indicted on a charge related to sexual abuse within the center, or

b) The alleged abuser has been convicted on a charge of sexual abuse within the center.

4. The obligation to provide the results of the investigation is terminated if the resident is released from the agency's custody.”

The agency notification form uses language directly from the standard as part of the notification process. The PREA Support person interviewed confirmed they are required to provide such notifications as described in this standard.

Indicator (e) NCDPS has form OPA-130 that documents notifications. The PREA Support Person (PSP) will complete the form and document the notifications, which will become part of the full investigation file. There were no incidents in the past year requiring notifications to be made.

Indicator (f) The Auditor is not required to audit this provision.

Compliance Determination

The Auditor determined compliance based on policy and interviews with various staff members who would be involved in ensuring proper notifications occurred, including the facility Director, the PREA Compliance Manager, The DJJDP

	Investigator, and a PREA Support Person.

The Policy states, " Staff shall be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination for violation of Department of Public Safety sexual abuse or sexual harassment policies. Staff who engage in sexual abuse shall immediately be prohibited from contact with residents and shall be reported to relevant licensing bodies or law enforcement agencies unless the activity was clearly not criminal. Consequences will be commensurate with the nature and circumstances of the sexual abuse or harassment committed." The New

Employee Orientation Manual sets forth the obligation to report all activities that are violations of the law. It states. "If the violation is that a Department employee engaged in, attempted, threatened, or requested an act constituting sexual misconduct, termination of the employment of the employee shall be the presumptive disciplinary sanction." All new North Carolina Department of Public Safety employees are educated about PREA and the NCDPS Zero tolerance as part of new employee orientation, even if they do not work in a DJJDP facility. There were no sexual abuse allegations against staff at Wake Juvenile Detention Center.

Indicator (b) The NCDJJ policy requires that staff who engage in sexual misconduct be referred for investigation by local law enforcement agencies who will refer individuals for potential prosecution. The Agency policy and training notify employees that those staff who engage in sexual misconduct have violated North Carolina laws at a felony level. Staff interviewed by the Auditor understood that termination is the expected outcome for those who engage in sexual misconduct with youth at the JDC. The facility Director and the agency PREA Coordinator confirmed this. The Agency Head representative also confirmed the fact that termination is the presumptive discipline for sexual abuse. As indicator (a) noted, there were no cases at Wake JDC. In addition to termination for engaging in sexual contact with a juvenile, the PREA Policy goes on to state that staff who are aware of sexual misconduct between staff and residents or between residents will also be subjected to discipline. The PREA Policy says, "Failure of staff to report alleged incidents of sexual abuse or sexual harassment will subject the non-reporting staff member to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal."

Indicator (c) North Carolina Department of Public Safety policy allows for other sanctions to occur besides termination if the incident is a non-criminal act. As noted in indicator (a), "Consequences will be commensurate with the nature and circumstances of the sexual abuse or harassment committed." The Facility Director and HR representative confirmed discipline can occur for other behaviors related to PREA, such as inappropriate comments/language. In these cases, the DJJ policy dictates it would review the individual's history and make suitable sanctions consistent with laws. There have been zero cases of staff discipline at any level in the past 12 months for a concern related to sexual misconduct. The Auditor reviewed the new employee handbook to understand disciplinary actions that could be imposed for noncriminal acts besides terminations. The employee handbook states staff can also receive a letter of discipline, be suspended, or be demoted.

Indicator (d) The Auditor was able to confirm with the facility Director that any termination or resignation would not stop the case from being referred for prosecution. He confirmed the termination of employment for a violation of a departmental sexual misconduct policy or the resignation by a Department employee who would have been terminated if not for his or her resignation would be reported to the appropriate criminal prosecuting authority or relevant licensing

	bodies. There have been zero cases in the past 12 months. Compliance Determination: The North Carolina Department of Public Safety policies address the standard’s expectation toward the discipline of staff persons who sexually assault or harass an individual in custody. The NCDPS has created an Office of Special Investigations to ensure transparency in the investigative process. Though there has been no staff discipline at Wake Juvenile Detention Center this past year, the agency has provided documentation and education of employees to support compliance. Disciplinary actions of staff include a variety of sanctions, including termination, which will be presumed for a substantiated finding of sexual abuse. The policies also require, consistent with the standard, criminal acts are referred for prosecution and sexual misconduct to be reported to appropriate licensing bodies. Compliance is based on policy, interviews, the NCDPS Employment Handbook, and mechanisms in place to hold staff accountable.

	Auditor Overall Determination: Meets Standard Auditor Discussion Policies and written/electronic documentation reviewed. Wake Juvenile Detention Center Pre-Audit questionnaire Juvenile Justice Facilities Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy and Procedures PREA Volunteer and Contractor Acknowledgment form Individuals interviewed/ observations made. Interview with Director Interview with PREA Coordinator Summary Determination Indicator (a) The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention informs all contractors and volunteers about the agency’s zero tolerance

for sexual misconduct with residents. This is done through an orientation program for volunteers and contractors, as noted in 115.332 and 115.334. Any violation of agency policies can lead to an immediate cessation of privileges. This is covered in the PREA Policy and the orientation training for all new volunteers. Contracted employees who provide direct service receive the full training on PREA that all Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention staff receive. Both contracted staff and volunteers sign acknowledgment forms stating they understand an act of sexual misconduct or failure to report such actions could result in termination of access to the facility and can lead to felony charges under North Carolina Law. If the investigative process reveals that the activities were criminal, the case would be referred for prosecution. In the case of licensed professionals such as contracted nursing staff or mental health clinicians, the appropriate state licensing body would be informed. The Auditor spoke with a contracted staff member who confirmed they understood the training and potential consequences for staff violating the rules around undue familiarity. There were no volunteers currently at WJDC. Agency PREA policy (page 12) covers the requirements of the standard. "Any contractor or volunteer who engages in sexual abuse shall immediately be prohibited from contact with residents and shall be reported to relevant licensing bodies or law enforcement agencies unless the activity was clearly not criminal. Consequences will be commensurate with the nature and circumstances of the sexual abuse or harassment committed."

Indicator (b) Interviews with the Director and the Agency PREA Coordinator supported that violations other than actual sexual assault by a contractor or volunteer would be reviewed to determine if it were appropriate to continue services. Absent any previous allegations, the Auditor relied on the Facility Director and the Agency PREA Coordinators' interviews.

Compliance Determination:

North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has contractors and volunteers at its facilities sign an acknowledgment form that notifies them that any sexual misconduct can result in the termination of privileges and that they may be subjected to civil or criminal prosecution. NCDPS PREA policy allows the facility Director to bar entry to any contractor or volunteer to prevent contact with potential victims of sexual abuse or harassment incidents. The policy requires the agency to refer incidents involving these individuals to law enforcement agencies for investigation. There were no incidents requiring the removal of a contractor or volunteer for sexual assault or sexual harassment, according to the Director and the PREA Compliance Manager. Contracted staff knew they could be barred for violating JDC rules related to PREA. Compliance, absent allegations, is based on policy, supporting documentation, and interviews.

Residents are aware they can be placed on special conditions that limit movement and contact with peers and a potential loss of their current treatment status. There were no allegations or substantiated cases of resident-on-resident sexual assault in the past 12 months. The PREA Policy states, "Residents are subject to consequences for sexual misconduct/offense pursuant to the Behavior Expectations policy following the established due process." A review of the detention service policy and the admission packet further informs the reader of the potential consequences for sexual misconduct or sexual abuse, which are both listed as major rule violations. The Detention Policy manual (Pages 14-16) provides the definition of sexual abuse and sexual offense and the range of consequences for such actions. Indicator (b) Residents can be sanctioned for engaging in sexual misconduct even if it is consensual. The discipline code defined in the policy prohibits physical sexual contact between residents. The Policy outlines the definitions and ranges of consequences for both major and minor misconduct. Through this process, consistent application of discipline appears to be supported. The resident will continue to receive education, programming, and treatment services, regardless of disciplinary status. The Policy defines two major infractions related to PREA: sexual misconduct and sexual offense. As noted, there have been no cases of discipline due to there having been no allegations of sexual misconduct or offense. No individuals were disciplined by confinement, loss of large muscle activities or were denied access to programming, including school. The facility does not have work opportunities.

Indicator (c) The facility Director confirmed that they would assess the resident's mental health state and cognitive abilities before determining the youth restorative action plan in considering any disciplinary conditions. NCDJJ provides juveniles with comprehensive mental health services, and a youth's treatment progress is an important aspect of all programming decisions. Discussions with the facility's mental health providers support they would be asked for input on the residents' ability to understand the action and consequences. The PREA policy confirmed the Director's statements, "Consequences will be commensurate with the nature and circumstances of the sexual abuse or harassment committed the resident's disciplinary history and consequences imposed for comparable offenses committed by other residents with similar histories. Whether a resident's mental disabilities or mental illness contributed to the behavior will be considered when determining what disciplinary sanctions, if any, will be imposed."

Indicator (e) The Director and facility PREA Compliance Manager confirmed that residents who engage in sexual misconduct with staff will not be disciplined unless it is proven the staff did not consent. The facility has not had any such cases in the last three years.

Indicator (f) Residents interviewed supported that they cannot get in trouble for making a PREA complaint unless they have been proven to have purposefully lied. Agency Policy also states this expectation. "A report of sexual abuse and/or sexual harassment made in good faith based upon a reasonable belief that the alleged conduct occurred shall not constitute falsely reporting an incident or lying, even if an investigation does not establish evidence sufficient to substantiate the allegation."

Indicator (g) Residents who engage in consensual sexual misconduct can be subjected to discipline as defined in the handbook. "Sexual activity not by force or under duress is considered sexual misconduct even if it is not a criminal violation." There have been no cases of discipline of juveniles at Wake Juvenile Detention Center for sexual misconduct.

	Compliance Determination North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention addresses the requirements of this standard in multiple policies and documents provided to the Juvenile at admission. The documents cover the disciplinary process, the consideration of the resident's mental health in determining consequences, and that sanctions in the facility will be proportional to the offense. The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention prohibits consensual relationships between residents and between residents and staff. Residents who engage in sexual misconduct with staff cannot be disciplined unless it is determined the staff did not consent to the act. Residents can be disciplined for making an intentionally false report related to PREA. Absent a PREA allegation, compliance was based on policy reviews and interviews with staff and residents.

Observation of medical/MH charts

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has implemented several tools specifically designed to identify individuals with traumatic histories, including sexual assault. During both the medical and custody intakes, which occur in the first hours after admission, residents are asked several questions that could identify prior sexual abuse history. Residents who are identified through the screening process or who admit a history of sexual trauma can be referred to either mental health services or to the local rape crisis agency. The Auditor confirmed this practice by reviewing documented cases in client files and through interviews with residents, mental health professionals, and medical staff. Juvenile Justice Facilities Detention Services Policy and Procedure (page 10) states, "If this screening indicates that a resident has experienced prior sexual victimization or has previously perpetrated sexual abuse, whether it occurred in an institutional setting or in the community, staff shall ensure that the resident is offered a follow-up meeting with an LMHC within 14 calendar days of the screening."

The medical and mental health records are separate from custody files to protect information from general staff access. Intake-trained staff knew that specific information about past abuse should not be put in the client's custody file but should be relayed to medical and mental health staff. The Juvenile Detention Center has on-call nursing coverage and on-call mental health services when a nurse is not on site. Interviews with the facility Nurse and contracted Mental Health professional confirmed that residents who report recent abuse are provided services immediately. Intake staff will notify medical and mental health staff of any positive history of being a victim or a perpetrator of sexual abuse. The Mental Health staff confirmed that it would routinely occur in the first few days. Two Mental Health Consultants service the Wake Juvenile Detention Center. All Juvenile Detention Center residents are provided supportive mental health services. The OAS initially showed no individual who had reported sexual abuse. After discussions with the Director and the Clinical staff, it was clear that there are cases where juveniles disclose abuse at intake and others who will open up with the mental health staff over time as their comfort level improves. The Director provided documentation of a juvenile seen by mental health staff on the same day they arrived.

Indicator (b) Residents who engage in sexual assault or have a history of sexual offenses are automatically referred to mental health for an assessment. The facility has licensed clinical staff (QMHP) who can treat individuals with sexually aggressive histories. The policy requires all residents to be seen by mental health within 14 days of admission or after an incident of sexual aggression in the facility. The facility provided documentation of the follow-up, and the Auditor reviewed records on-site.

Indicator (c) Information disclosed by a resident about prior abuse history other than in screening tool information is part of the medical and mental health chart. Only information pertinent to the resident's treatment is disclosed to ensure safe placement in housing, education, programming, treatment, and work assignments. The Auditor confirmed through interviews with intake staff, medical staff, mental health staff, facility leadership, and the PREA Coordinator that sensitive information is protected. Intake staff, as noted in indicator (a), would not put specific information in the custody file that the resident discloses about the abuse but would instead inform the administration, medical, and mental health. Residents interviewed supported that information given to counseling staff is kept confidential. Agency administration ensures residents who are identified as at risk of being victimized are not housed near those with perpetuating behaviors. The mental health consultant confirmed that all residents are verbally informed of confidentiality limitations. The work described by MHCs is to assess and stabilize individuals emotionally and that longer-term therapeutic treatment of past abuse would more likely occur once a plan is in place for the youth in court, be it a return to the community or to a youth development center.

Indicator (d). All residents are informed during their intakes with medical and mental health staff an understanding of the limits of confidentiality related to criminal behaviors. The Medical and Mental health staff interviewed confirmed that this is reviewed frequently throughout their stay. Residents interviewed confirmed they understood why a medical or mental health staff must disclose actual sexual abuse or imminent risk situations. Mental health staff were able to explain the circumstance in which a resident who discloses prior abuse must be reported to the state child welfare agency. The facility population is sentenced to the environment is normally under 18. State laws would prevail on disclosure requirements based on those over 18.

Compliance Determination

All residents are screened when they arrive at the Wake Juvenile Detention Center. Residents are screened by Mental Health staff and Medical staff. Residents with sexual assault histories and sexual victimization histories are offered treatment in a meeting with a mental health professional within 14 days of admission. The Medical staff has several intake questions that are PREA-related; this allows residents who did not disclose concerns at admission a second opportunity to disclose in a medical environment. Mental Health staff also have a series of screening tools that help inform the PREA screening tool and residents' treatment planning. The auditor confirmed that medical and mental health records are not accessible to the custody staff. This process limits access to the most vulnerable information, protecting the residents from having information exploited. Supporting documentation provided to the Auditor showed how Medical informs Mental Health, who follows up on any disclosure of sexual abuse. Compliance was based on policies, the documentation provided, the security of records, interviews, and information provided on tours by the Medical and Mental Health staff.

Registered Nurses are on site daily for 8 hours as well as a medical practitioner a few days per week, The facility has the added availability of on-call medical and mental health practitioners. The services are diverse and consistent with community health clinics. Residents report access to these services

if they are in crisis. Medical staff report having medical autonomy if the resident must go out of the building for emergency services to facilitate that trip. The medical staff states the facility administration is supportive of the work they do, and they work to resolve issues when they arise. Resident records support quick access to health services which would be critical in response to PREA allegations. The medical staff reported they would refer a victim to a local hospital for SANE services. PREA Policy ensures that alleged victims of sexual misconduct receive immediate, unimpeded access to medical and mental health services, the nature and scope of which are determined by medical and mental health practitioners according to their professional judgment. Medical staff confirmed their autonomy in making sure residents' needs are addressed. Agency PREA policy covers medical and mental health responses to sexual abuse incidents. The policy ensures immediate referrals if the incident has occurred in the past 72 hours. "When there is knowledge, suspicion, and/or information pertaining to acute or nonacute sexual abuse (< 72 hours up to 5 days after the time of alleged sexual abuse and notification to Juvenile Justice) of a resident by another resident and/or by staff, contractor(s), and/or volunteer(s), the alleged victim may be provided access to an acute medical evaluation at a designated center, supported by a Memorandum of Agreement, to include the following mandatory standards and components. The policy also states the forensic exam should be completed in a manner consistent with the DOJ guidelines when it states, "The acute medical evaluations shall be in full compliance with standards established through the "National Protocol for Sexual Assault Medical Forensic Examinations, Adults/Adolescents." [U.S. Department of Justice; Office on Violence Against Women (September 2004)]. Per this standard, the alleged sexual abuse victim(s) shall be granted access to a Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE) at the designated acute medical evaluation center;

D. The acute medical evaluation shall be in full compliance with professionally accepted standards of care, and shall include the following components:

1. Telephone-based referral/intake prior to presentation to the designated medical center,
2. Complete medical history obtained from staff, the alleged victim, and/or from caregiver or legal guardian,
3. Detailed sexual abuse history obtained from staff and from the alleged victim,
4. Comprehensive physical examination,
5. Complete sexual assault evidence-collection kit, and possible photo documentation, while maintaining the chain of evidence,
6. Testing for sexually-transmitted infections and/or pregnancy, as appropriate,
7. Prophylaxis against sexually-transmitted infections and/or pregnancy, as appropriate,
8. Treatment for sexually-transmitted infections, as appropriate,

9. Information and access to all lawful medical pregnancy-related services and interventions,
10. Mental health screening, if indicated per center-specific protocol,
11. Written documentation of: assessment; key findings, intervention; recommendations; and/or referrals,
12. Mandatory reporting to state and/or local agencies, if indicated,
13. Medical evaluator participation in the official Sexual Abuse Incident Review, if requested, and
14. Provision of expert testimony, if required”

No juveniles have needed to be sent for a forensic exam from the facility in the past year.

Indicator (b) Random staff knew as part of their first responder duties that immediate notification to medical was required. This is also stated in the facility's Sexual Assault Response plan available to staff. A resident needing a forensic exam will be sent to the Wake Children's Hospital's Emergency Room about three miles away in Raleigh. The staff interviewed understood their role to encourage as a detainee to go to the hospital and not do anything that would destroy or degrade the physical evidence. All staff knew to call the nurse if she was not on site. The Auditor saw the facility's emergency plan binder with a pull-out checklist for first responders and supervisors informing the staff about notifying medical and mental health staff.

Indicator (c) Discussions with hospital staff and facility medical staff confirm that sexual assault victims would be offered STD testing, prophylaxis medications, and emergency contraception. The Auditor confirmed the same medications would be offered to the resident again upon return from a forensic exam even if they initially denied it. Medical staff confirmed they would educate the resident on the importance of such medications for continued health. Medical staff at the hospital confirmed that emergency contraception and pregnancy testing is available to victims for individuals with reproductive organs.

Indicator (d) The Auditor confirmed that medical services related to sexual assault victims are provided without cost in North Carolina. Payment for the medical forensic examination is done through the Rape Victim Assistance Program (RVAP), a state of NC-funded entity through the NC Dept of Public Safety. "Payment is made directly to the medical facility or medical professional. An itemized copy of the bill must specify the categories of expenses under which the services fall and be submitted with the RVAP Form-2019.” The Auditor also confirmed that victims of sexual assault are provided initial and follow-up services at a local hospital through funding from the state. This is done to encourage all victims to come forward for help. The Medical team at Wake JDC would function in the same way by providing follow-up care. The Auditor was also provided with state law that confirms victims are provided services without cost to them or their parents. Mental health staff also report they would report immediately following an allegation to support the victim.

Compliance Determination

Wake Juvenile Detention Center can quickly respond to and provide emergency care and referral to a local hospital for forensic services. The facility response plan for PREA incidents outlines the steps taken to ensure access to care. The facility has on-site medical nursing daily plus on-call services that appear to support there is sufficient resources for the population. The facility also has on-call providers who can help facilitate referrals to outside medical hospitals. The Auditor reviewed state websites and spoke to a local hospital representative. Absent a PREA incident, compliance is based on policy, staff understanding of expectations, the availability of onsite medical and mental health resources, and access to SANE nursing services at local hospitals. The Auditor also considered the agency’s PREA policy, which outlines expectations consistent with this standard and the organized response plan.

Observation of the medical unit

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The Wake Juvenile Detention Center ensures that all residents are provided with the appropriate level of medical and mental health services for any issues of sexual abuse. Medical staff will provide the appropriate level of care depending on how long ago the abuse occurred. If the incident has occurred recently, the resident will be offered a forensic exam at a local hospital. If the incident is a prior life event in another institution or the community, the medical and mental health teams will complete a health assessment and mental health referral for services. If the resident is more comfortable discussing the abuse with a rape crisis agency staff person, then the Mental Health Clinician or the PREA Support Person would be arranged. Medical staff confirmed that juveniles in crisis could be moved within minutes to outside hospitals for critical care and that there was no conflict with custody staff in this process. NCDPS PREA Policy on pages 20-27 provides clear instructions on what to do if the assault has occurred in the past 72 hours, if the abuse occurred at some other time, and what staff is expected to do if there is no medical or mental health staff on site. The facility's PREA Response plan also sets forth expected action consistent with getting juveniles access to care as soon as possible. Interviews with the facility nurse confirmed there would be an initial assessment in the medical office but that if there is a concern that the individual was a victim of sexual assault, they would be transferred to Wake Children's Hospital for a forensic exam by and trained Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE).

Indicator (b) Residents who are victims of sexual assault in an NCDPS Juvenile Justice facility are immediately referred to mental health services as well as medical services. If the services are provided initially in a hospital setting, as would occur in the forensic exam, the Wake Juvenile Detention Center medical staff will provide the appropriate follow-up services. The Wake Juvenile Detention Center Medical and Mental Health staff member who confirmed, as did the InterAct representative, that they would make referrals to ensure continuity of care if the resident was released home or transferred to another facility. Medical staff confirmed that if a resident has been transported to the hospital, the facility medical staff will thoroughly review the discharge instructions, carry out orders as appropriate, and develop treatment plans for alleged victims upon returning to the facility. Facility medical staff report the steps will all be documented in the resident's electronic health care record. There was no incident so the Auditor could not review any related medical charts for this indicator.

Indicator (c) NCDPS offers Wake Juvenile Detention Center residents a full array of medical and mental health services. The medical clinic addresses the needs associated with the adolescent population. The medical team can address any issue related to post-sexual assault, including prophylactic treatments for STDs and pregnancy testing and counseling. The facility has nursing services daily and on-call medical providers when nurses are not on site. The Nurse also confirmed that residents needing specialized care can be brought to a specialist in the community if needed. The medical staff also supports they have medical autonomy and do not feel that custody would impede the juvenile from going out for a forensic exam. Mental Health services include counseling, medication management, and, when needed, extra support. The facility uses treatment-based planning for the sentenced population it serves. In addition to being able to service victims of sexual abuse, the treatment providers Indicator (d) Wake Juvenile Detention Center serves both male and female residents. The nursing staff confirmed the ability to provide pregnancy testing to victims of sexual abuse.

Indicator (e) Wake Juvenile Detention Center serves both male and female residents. The nursing staff confirmed any pregnant juvenile victim would be provide pregnancy related education and their options under state laws.

Indicator (f) The Auditor confirmed with both the medical staff at Wake Juvenile Detention Center and the representative of Wake Children's Hospital that victims of sexual assault are offered testing for sexually transmitted diseases. This testing is provided free of charge, consistent with agency policy and state law. Policy language supports this expectation. The Nurse also confirmed that if the juvenile refuses these suggested services at the hospital, they would be educated on why the hospital made the recommendations for testing and the service could be offered at the facility.

Indicator (g) Treatment services are provided without cost to the resident, including if the resident must go out for a forensic exam. Juveniles do not pay for medical services in NCDJDP facilities. State law 14.27.2 put NCDPS (the parent organization of NCDJDP) in charge of the funds to be paid to hospitals for the treatment of victims of sexual abuse. The Nurse confirmed that the juvenile will be sent for the exam no matter if they have named the abuser or not. Hospital staff also confirmed there is no requirement to name an abuser to receive services.

Indicator (h) All individuals involved in a sexual assault, both the victim and perpetrator, are referred for mental health assessments. The Auditor was able to confirm with mental health staff that they can complete a full array of services for both the victim and perpetrator of sexual abuse. Though there have been no incidents at Wake Juvenile Detention Center, mental health staff are experienced in working with individuals with prior perpetrating behaviors in the community. Agency policy states, "A comprehensive forensic mental health evaluation may be conducted at the center (The forensic mental health evaluation shall be scheduled based on review by the senior person in charge and if recommended. The evaluation should be initiated within days of concerns coming to the attention of Juvenile Justice)."

Compliance Determination

The NCDPS Juvenile Justice services ensure residents have ongoing access to services that address the healthcare needs of resident victims of sexual abuse. The Auditor confirmed the capacity to support victims of sexual violence. The Wake Juvenile Detention Center health services staff would provide follow-up medical and mental health services for victims of sexual assault or perpetrators of sexual offenses. Healthcare staff would ensure that all medical needs and follow-up treatment were provided after an initial referral to the local hospital for a forensic exam. Medical staff confirms that they could educate residents about the importance of pregnancy testing, STD testing, and prophylactic treatments if they initially refused these treatments at the hospital. Compliance is based on the resources available on-site and community-based services, the interviews with medical and mental health staff, and interviews with representatives of the InterAct. There were no incidents of staff having to respond to sexual abuse of a juvenile at Wake Juvenile Detention Center.

Interview with Mental Health staff

Interview with PREA Support Persons

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention has a policy in place that addresses this indicator. Juvenile Justice Facilities Sexual Abuse and Harassment Policy and Procedures (page 9) sets forth the requirement of an incident review on all cases of sexual abuse unless the investigation has determined the allegation was unfounded. The policy states, "the PCM will conduct a Post Incident Review (PIR) after every sexual abuse investigation unless "unfounded." The PIR (OPA-I10) will occur within 30 days of the conclusion of the investigation, and a copy of the final PIR will be submitted to the PREA Office within 30 days of completion. The PCM will include a review team of management, supervisors, investigators, and medical/mental health providers to conduct the PIR.

The review team will:

1. Consider if there is a need to change policy or practice;
2. Consider if the incident was motivated by race, ethnicity, gender identity, LGBTI identification, status, gang affiliation, or was motivated by group dynamics at the center;
3. Assess if physical barriers enabled abuse;
4. Assess the adequacy of staffing levels;
5. Assess if monitoring technology should be deployed or supplemented; and
6. Prepare a report of findings, determinations, and improvement recommendations. If the center does not implement recommendations, reasons must be documented." The Auditor was provided with examples of the review form used if Wake JDC had an incident of sexual abuse. There were no criminal or administrative investigations of sexual abuse.

Indicator (b) The NCDJDP PREA policy states that consistent with standard expectations, the review should occur within 30 days of the conclusion of the investigation. The Policy list the review under duties described for the facility's PREA

Compliance Manager. "The PIR (OPA-I10) will occur within 30 days of the conclusion of the investigation, and a copy of the final PIR will be submitted to the PREA Office within 30 days of completion." Interviews with the facility Director and the PREA Compliance Manager both supported knowledge of the importance and timeliness of the reviews. Absent an actual incident of sexual abuse, the Auditor confirmed with the Agency PREA Office that they would be actively involved in the review process.

Indicator (c) As noted in indicator (a), the policy language addresses the multi-discipline nature of the team. In a review of the documentation provided and various staff interviewed, the multi-disciplinary nature of the team was confirmed.. The Director believes he would include the PCM, line Supervisor, a PREA Support Person, and Medical and mental health staff. Information requires that all reviews be forwarded to the NCDJJD PREA Office and the Regional Director for further review. The agency PREA Coordinator confirmed their review would also look at systemwide complaints to further identify consistencies that may need to be addressed through policy or training needs.

Indicator (d) The elements described in this indicator are all covered in policy as noted in indicator (a). The Post-Incident Review form (OPA-I10) uses an agency-approved form to document the review panel's considerations, including the required information. The PIR form considers if the policy needs to be reviewed and the underlying motivation for the incident, including if the victim was targeted due to their perceived membership of a particular group. It goes on to look at staffing, physical plant issues, and surveillance needs. Interviews with the Agency Head representative, the PREA Coordinator, the Facility Director, and the PREA Compliance Manager all support they would be assessing how policy, training, and operational practice might need to change to prevent any further incident.

Indicator (e) The Post Incident Review form used in all NCDJJD facilities documents the findings of the questions asked in this standard indicator. It provides the reader with information if the team has determined the cause of the abuse related to the six sub-indicators described in (d) and any recommended actions. The Director and PREA Compliance Manager were both aware of the form and the importance of good documentation of the information determined through the investigation and the subsequent review.

Compliance Determination

The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention policy requires the completion of the steps outlined in this standard. The interviews support knowledge of the aspect of a critical incident review in PREA sexual assault cases. The policy requires what information needs to be part of the incident review. The language comes directly from the standard. Compliance was determined based on policy language, the documentation provided, the incident review member's understanding of the requirements, and the incident review form.

The PREA Coordinator states each facility's PREA Compliance Manager will collect incident-based sexual misconduct data and forward that data to the Department's PREA Coordinator. All information is also forwarded in TORI the NCDJJD incident report site, allowing for administrative review by agency leadership. The agency policy and annual reports define sexual abuse and sexual harassment as consistent with federal definitions. The Agency has statewide case management systems that can capture age, gender, and the outcomes of all investigations. The state PREA Office has direct access to information from the state critical incident tracking system (TROI). The PREA staff confirmed that they are aware of all incidents and will be supplied information on 16 different elements of each incident, including tracking how long the investigation took and the outcome determination.

Indicator (b) The agency completes an annual report with aggregate data from the Wake Juvenile Detention Center, other JDCs, and its Youth Development Centers. There were no incidents to review, but the agency PREA Coordinator was familiar with the various elements required for the SSV and the agency's annual report. The Auditor also reviewed the agency's annual report, which did not include any identifiers.

Indicator (c) The Auditor was able to confirm the various elements of the Survey of Sexual Violence are maintained and could be used to complete the report if requested by the Department of Justice. There has not been a request by the Department of Justice for a Survey of Sexual Violence reports for the Wake Juvenile Detention Center. Interviews with both the Facility PREA Compliance Manager and the State PREA Coordinator confirmed the elements would be tracked.

Indicator (d) The agency has rules on retaining records at all NCDJJD facilities. Copies of criminal files involving resident-on-resident contact will be retained locally, with a copy sent to the agency PREA Coordinator. The PREA Coordinator would receive all incident outcomes and ensure data accuracy.

Indicator (e) The NCDJJD just entered into its first agreement with the Department of Corrections for a Juvenile unit with sight and sound separation from adults in a co-located facility. Contractual Language reviewed in 115.312 requires the facility to be run under PREA Juvenile rules. The Juvenile PREA Office confirmed they would receive notification on all allegations of abuse at this contracted facility. This information should be included in the 2023 state summary report.

Indicator (f) The Department of Justice has not requested PREA-related information from the NCDPS for WJDC in the past year.

Compliance Determination

The Auditor has found the standard to be compliant. The NCDJJD has a system in place for collecting uniform data that could be used to complete the Survey of Sexual Violence. The North Carolina Department of Public Safety Prison Rape Elimination Act (PREA) Sexual Abuse Annual Report 2021 outlines the efforts, including data for each of NCDPS's adult and juvenile facilities. The 2022 report will be finalized shortly. The agency has not been required to complete the Survey of Sexual Violence by the DOJ for this year for this facility or at the statewide level. The State PREA Coordinator reports she has all the information available to complete the report and provided the previous year's report to further support their compliance. The Auditor also took into consideration the tracking system NCDJJD has in place that allows for facility and systemwide analysis to occur.

The department's central office staff and the facility's administrative team review critical incidents with an eye toward improving safety. Interviews with the Facility Director, the Agency PREA Coordinator, and the Regional Director who was on-site during the audit support critical analysis occur not only at the facility level but also at a system level. Both the Director and the PREA Coordinator also confirmed trends are used to further guide policy/ procedural practices or the disbursement of resources. Indicator (b) The NCDJJD annual report has a comparison by each facility on the number of sexual assault and sexual harassment claims. Each facility's data compares the current year to the prior year's data. The report shows whether the accused was a staff or a resident and determines the outcome.

Indicator (c) The Agency Head representative confirms the Secretary of NCDJJD approves the PREA report developed by the agency PREA Coordinator before being placed on the agency's website.

Indicator (d) The Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention removes all identifiers from summary reports. The Auditor was able to review several documented reports on PREA that show cumulative data without utilizing identifiers.

Compliance Determination

North Carolina Department of Public Safety meets the requirements of this standard. The data elements are required to be reviewed by the agency PREA Coordinator to ensure consistent data. Interviews with the Agency Head, Regional Director, PREA Coordinator, and facility Director supported the fact they utilize data to make informed decisions on programmatic and policy needs. This is consistent with the standard expectation to critically review data to identify problem areas and enact corrective actions. Since the PREA Coordinator works in the Analysis, Research, and External Affairs unit of NCDJJD, trends can be reviewed, and changes supported either from the facility level, such as supporting the need for additional staff or electronic surveillance equipment or from a central administrative level such as policy/procedural modifications. The agency also showed compliance with PREA standards through the annual report that combines data, graphs, and narrative information on NCDJJD's efforts since 2015, which are posted on the agency's website. The report highlights each facility and tracks trends of incidents without identifying information as the agency attempts to provide an environment free of sexual abuse or harassment.

Summary Determination

Indicator (a) The North Carolina Department of Public Safety has policies that protect the security of information. The Auditor spoke with facility leadership and medical and mental health staff about the confidentiality of records. In discussions with the PREA Coordinator and medical and mental health staff, they described the layers of controls to ensure no unnecessary disclosure. The Administrative Investigative files have similar protections to ensure only those individuals who need access to the information discovered. Criminal Investigation files will be maintained in accordance with state law. NCDJDP will keep copies of their documentation and the final criminal investigative report.

Indicator (b) The North Carolina Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention ensures the information related to PREA incidents and the agency's efforts to support a zero-tolerance culture are published in an annual report available on the agency website. The Website provides information on the department's efforts to create and maintain environments free of sexual abuse and sexual harassment.

Indicator (c) The Auditor's review of the NCDPS PREA annual report located on the state's website does not include any identifiers.

Indicator (d) Agency policy states the juvenile's record will be destroyed five years after the juvenile's involvement with the agency ends. The agency's PREA Coordinator is aware that all PREA-related data should be maintained for a period of no less than ten years. PREA Records are stored electronically with the agency's PREA Office.

Compliance Determination:

The standard is compliant. North Carolina Department of Public Safety policies ensure that records are maintained securely. Since much of the documentation lies within the TORI information system, it is secure and only accessible by approved individuals. Aggregate data for all DPS juvenile facilities are available annually. The Auditor reviewed the agency website to ensure the report was posted without any identifying information.

Prevention provided the required access to information. The Auditor also got copies of other documentation as requested on-site or during the post-audit period. The Auditor requested a random sample of information using the information on the identified population and the housing unit population list to ensure a diverse sampling of the population. The Auditor was able to test critical functions, including the phone system, outside calling access, and the interpreter line. The Facility provided all documentation in a well-organized manner.

Indicator (m) The Auditor was able to interview juveniles throughout the facility in private spaces. The space provided was appropriate to allow the Auditor and the juvenile to speak freely without others being able to hear our conversations. The juveniles appeared to be open to speaking with the Auditor and were not hesitant to answer questions. The Auditor confirmed their willingness to participate in the Audit. The residents answered questions supporting that they understood PREA, the Zero Tolerance expectation, and how to report a concern. The Auditor also found that residents supported that the environment was a safe place from sexual abuse and that staff were approachable and would address any negative behaviors, including sexualized verbal comments.

Indicator (n) The Auditor did not receive confidential correspondence from the posting of the Audit notice. The Auditor's information was posted and electronically verified in advance of the site visit and during the tour and resident interviews. During the audit, the facility PREA Compliance Manager was informed the posting should remain up until the final report is issued. The juveniles were aware of the audit and the posting on the wall, as were the staff members I spoke with during my time on site. Residents confirmed the notice was up for several weeks. The Notice was posted in the dayroom and in the entrance alcove.

Compliance Determination

The North Carolina Department of Public Safety has had PREA audits of each of its facilities since 2014-15. The NCDJJD has spread its facility audits over the three-year PREA cycle. The Auditor was given full access to the site and was not prohibited from returning to certain areas of the facility if requested. The Auditor was provided ample space and privacy to conduct confidential interviews with staff and residents. The facility did post the audit notice; it was visible on tour, and residents were aware of the posting and the audit. Compliance is based on the above-mentioned facts, which support a culture in which PREA is monitored daily.

Interview with Agency PREA Coordinator

Summary Determination

Indicator: (f) The North Carolina Department of Public Safety website has posted all the previous PREA Audits since it began having audits of juvenile facilities in 2015. This was determined through a review of the state's NCDPS website. The Auditor was able to review the previous Audit report from the agency website as part of the Audit preparation. As noted earlier, the PREA Office used to service both the Department of Corrections and the Division of Juvenile Justice. The Department of Corrections has since become its own entity in the North Carolina Government; as a result, the NCDPS Division of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention created its own PREA Office. The PREA Information is available directly through the DJJ page as part of the transition.

Compliance Determination

The North Carolina Department of Public Safety website has all previous facility PREA Audits posted under its PREA information link. The Auditor was able to see the timely posting of other audits that occurred during this audit cycle. The Auditor also took into consideration that the Agency PREA Coordinator was also aware of the timing requirement for the posting of the audit report.
