

North Carolina Statewide Automated Victim Assistance and Notification

North Carolina has approximately 400,000 reported victims of crime each year.¹ The Crime Victims’ Rights Act outlines the specific rights of each of these victims in NC.² These rights encompass the entire criminal justice process – from the initial report to law enforcement to the final release of an offender from custody or supervision. NC SAVAN (also called VINELink) is one of the tools that victims can use to exercise some of these rights.

Get information on an offender’s custody status.

Find local organizations that offer victim assistance and other services.

Receive notifications of a change in an offender’s custody status.

NC SAVAN is a free and anonymous service to victims of crime.

No offender is ever notified about use of this service for any reason.

Sign up using the VINELink mobile app, vinelink.com, or by calling:
